Attorney General In Hot Water Over Payments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Members of the legislature's Joint Finance Committee have asked the attorney general's office for more information on the office's use of private attorneys, including how it avoids ethics violations.

The members questioned Atty. Gen. William J. Brown's executive assistant Tuesday after being given figures showing Brown has spent about $3.3 million on private lawyers since taking office.

Dwight C. Pettay Jr., the executive assistant, gave the committee a breakdown of expenditures for special counsel during a hearing on the attorney general's budget request.

The breakdown showed the attorney general over the past four years spent $2.3 million in the claims division for attorneys collecting money owed the state.

Pettay said those lawyers were given a set percentage of whatever they collected, and brought in $7.23 million.

He said the claims cases farmed out to private attorneys amounted to only six per cent of the total claims cases. Overall, he said, the attorney general collected $34 million over the past four years on claims owed the state.

He said only $17 million was collected in the four years before Brown took office.

Pettay said the state also paid $990,000 for lawyers with special technical abilities during the past two years.

He said those attorneys worked on such cases as the Four Seasons loan scandal, the dispute over charitable donations by the Battelle Memorial Institute and the defense of national guardsmen accused in the Kent State shootings.

The committee asked Pettay to prepare more specific information on the special counsels for presentation later.

State Rep. Ben Rose, R-64, Lima, also asked Pettay for information on how the fees square with the state ethics laws.

Rose noted that many attorneys made campaign contributions to Brown's reelection campaign which could bar them from lucrative cases being passed out by Brown.

"I'm interested in what safeguards you have to assure you do not pay out funds illegally," Rose said.

Another committee member asked how many of the lawyers retained were blacks or women.

Pettay said he'd find the information for the committee.

Brown is asking for a $26.1 million budget, a 17.1 per cent increase over his present budget.

Rhodes Budget To Call For Belt Tightening

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes takes his 1975-1977 budget proposals to the Democratic legislature today amid predictions he will call for fiscal belt tightening and no new taxes.

Director Howard L. Collier of the Office of Budget & Management declined to give details in advance, calling the document "the toughest one I've ever worked on." He served as finance director during Rhodes' previous administration.

However, it was reported otherwise that Rhodes will call for minimal increases in the appropriations of some agencies, if not actual decreases, and in almost every instance a smaller amount than asked in the budget proposals left behind by former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan.

House Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, said he understood the Rhodes' budget will call for spending in the two years starting July 1 of about $11.35 billion or about $150 million less than Gilligan.

The 1973-1975 budget was $10.1 billion.

However, the governor reportedly will ask for some major shifts of funds in the Gilligan document, which has been under study several weeks by Shoemaker's Democrat-controlled committee. The panel already has done some cutting and shifting on its own.

Rhodes will need new funds to carry out programs he promised in his election campaign last fall. These must come from presently available revenues on the basis of no new taxes, also a Rhodes campaign promise.

The governor is expected to ask for a change in the state income tax law permitting married couples to choose between filing joint or individual returns. Present law says they must file the same type of return they filed under the federal income tax, which usually means more state tax liability.

Rhodes also promised a program under which survivors of police, firemen, and prison guards killed in the line of duty would continue to receive their salaries until the time at which they would have become eligible for retirement.

Some of the funds for those programs could become available by reductions Rhodes presently is making in the state payroll, unless he has plans to refill those positions later on.

Stans Enters Guilty Plea To Violations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans pleaded guilty today to five misdemeanor counts of violating campaign laws while he was chairman of Richard M. Nixon's 1972 re-election finance committee.

He was the third member of Nixon's Cabinet to plead guilty or be convicted of criminal offenses in the post-Watergate era.

Although he pleaded guilty, Stans said his violations of the campaign laws were unintentional.

"In each of these transactions I made a good faith judgment at the time that the Finance Committee was complying with the law, but it now turns out that that was not the case," Stans said in a prepared statement outside the courtroom.

Stans could be sentenced to one year in jail and a $1,000 fine on each count but that is considered unlikely. U.S. District Judge John Lewis Smith asked for a presentencing report and did not set a date for sentencing.

The charges are that Stans unwittingly accepted illegal corporate money from the Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. and Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and that he failed to report three other cash transactions as the finance chairman of Nixon's reelection campaign organization.

One of these transactions involved $81,000 in cash turned over to campaign aide Frederick C. LaRue, who became the paymaster for the Watergate cover-up. LaRue is scheduled to be sentenced Friday on his plea of guilty to taking part in the cover-up.

Stans said in the statement that he pleaded guilty "after long deliberation and full advice of counsel."

"This disposition, I believe, establishes once and for all that I had no guilty involvement in the Watergate burglary, the Watergate cover-up, the Segretti sabotage, the ITT case, the White House plumbers affair or the 1971 dairy industry dealings," Stans said.

Rhodes ordered a cut of about 10,000 in the state payroll which stood at about 57,000 when he took office, excluding university and county welfare department employees.

Otherwise, Rhodes is expected to cut almost in half the $500 million in new money Democrats want to funnel into Ohio's primary and secondary education program. The Democratic proposal would hike the total outlay for the schools from $1.8 billion this biennium to $2.3 billion the next biennium, with state support increased from about 40 to 45 per cent. The state paid about 30 per cent of the education tab when Rhodes was governor before.

Gilligan proposed an increase of $264.6 million for higher education to boost the total in that category to $1.054 billion over the biennium. Shoemaker's committee already has trimmed the increase to $173.8 million. The Ohio Board of Regents requested about $390 million more than committee Democrats would approve.

In other areas, there were predictions that Rhodes planned to ask for a 10 per cent pay hike for state employees, and that Gilligan's proposed $2.2 billion budget for welfare might be adjusted upward to meet increasing case loads resulting from current economic ills.

Although figures were not made available, Dr. Timothy B. Moritz, director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, said the mental health program will include a shift toward more community treatment centers and away from institutionalization.

Gilligan proposed $141.7 million worth of state health care programs which committee Democrats now have cut to $135.3 million. Most of that item remained in question as Rhodes' spending document was awaited.

CLEANING UP—Workers at Circleville's proposed sewage treatment plant on Route 22 west are cleaning up the debris left from recent flooding and pumping water out of excavated areas so they can complete construction of the plant. The city will then pump its sewage and drainage water into the facility.

Hanoi Reserves Move South

WASHINGTON (AP)—Recent U.S. intelligence reports say the North Vietnamese army has started moving elements of its home-based strategic reserve toward South Vietnam.

Some military analysts describe this as an ominous development, recalling similar enemy movements which preceded the big North Vietnamese offensive three years ago. Reports from Indochina within the past few days speak of the North Vietnamese spring offensive as having begun.

However, the Pentagon's public position is more cautious and stopped short of describing the new wave of North Vietnamese attacks as a countrywide offensive.

Defense Department spokesman William Beecher told a briefing Tuesday that "we don't see anything really massive at this stage."

Beecher said Pentagon analysts "don't foresee a major offensive on the order of Tet" in 1968. However, he did not rule out the possibility, noting that the North Vietnamese have the means to support a massive drive.

Defense sources said there are mixed opinions among Pentagon leaders on whether the North Vietnamese are embarking on a major offensive or whether this is only another in a series of "high points" in Communist military activity that may subside after a few weeks.

If Ford administration leaders come to the conclusion that it is a big push, they would be faced with a decision on how to act.

Their options appear very limited, unlike in 1972 when President Richard M. Nixon met the North Vietnamese offensive with a huge concentration of U.S. air and naval power.

Although U.S. armed strength in Southeast Asia has been drastically reduced since those days, the United States still has about 200 strike planes, including 17 B52 bombers, in Thailand, plus other warplanes aboard 7th Fleet carriers and on Guam.

But these could not be sent to help the South Vietnamese without specific approval by Congress, which has banned further U.S. combat in Indochina.

The Ford administration also could seek congressional approval of special new military aid to South Vietnam to deal with the enlarged North Vietnamese threat.

Defense officials say that one serious result of intensified North Vietnamese battlefield pressure, even if it turns out to be less than an all-out offensive, would be to accelerate the drain on South Vietnam's already depleted ammunition supplies.

Intelligence reports reaching the Pentagon this week have raised the estimate of North Vietnamese troop movements into South Vietnam and neighboring Laos.

The current estimate is that 56,000 North Vietnamese entered South Vietnam in the past two months and that another 9,000 to 10,000 moved into Laotian areas along the South Vietnamese border.

Intelligence men estimated that North Vietnamese infiltration so far this year has been double what it was a year ago.

State Solons Correct Ban On Tricycles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State representatives were expected to correct a law that accidentally banned tricycles from sidewalks today while the Senate and House waited for Gov. James A. Rhodes' late afternoon budget message.

Although about a dozen or so lawmakers rushed to take last year's bungle out of the code, freshman Rep. Rocco J. Colonna, D-4 Brook Park, was the first of either chamber to get a bill to the floor.

Colonna's measure deletes from the 1974 law a definition that included kiddies' tricycles under the definition of bicycles. The effect was to prohibit them on sidewalks. A new definition calls them objects "designed solely for use as a play vehicle by a child," and exempts them from bicycle regulations.

The legislature moved on a number of fronts Tuesday.

Action included: —House approval (78-2), completing passage, of a measure giving a month's extension from next Saturday the cold weather period during which studded snow tires may be used on state highways.

The chief sponsor, Sen. Jerome P. Stano, D-24 Parma, said he had indications from the governor he will sign the emergency legislation prior to the existing March 15 deadline.

—House approval and sending to the Senate of bills that prohibit detention of juveniles in adult jails unless charged with a felony, (56-30) and requiring the teaching of minority group histories in public schools (74-13).

—Senate passage of a bill (31-0) that requires municipalities and townships to provide ramped curbing for wheel chairs in future street construction or renovation. Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, said the measure will benefit more than 400,000 Ohioans who use wheel chairs or otherwise require ambulatory assistance.

—Introduction of a bill by Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledol, to postpone the primary election from June 3 to June 24. It would permit further legislative consideration of a four-part economic package the governor would like to see on the primary instead of the November ballot. The legislature didn't approve the Rhodes' package by March 5, the deadline of 90 days before the June election.

—Introduction in the Senate of a bill that would prohibit the adding of fluoride to public water supplies pending further studies of its potential dangers. Sponsoring Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, said he was disturbed by a "possible link with cancer" after being briefed on problems in New Orleans which he said has the highest cancer rate in the nation.

In other action, Sen. Gene Slagle, D-26 Galion, rounded up enough votes among Monday night absentees to secure finance committee approval of a bill advancing $19 million to the transportation department. The funds, to be paid back later with gas tax and highway user revenues, would enable the department to qualify for $47 million in federal highway matching funds now available.

Rep. Kenneth R. Cox, D-41 Barberton, asked reconsideration by the House of its vote to place a recreational lands amendment on the June ballot. His motion was a parliamentary move that enables the House to designate the proposition for the November ballot.

Cox wanted to delay the issue since as it now stands, since it would be the only statewide issue in June, and would necessitate special elections in communities where none is scheduled this June. His proposal provides that lands used for recreational purposes would qualify for a special tax rate.

12-Year-Old Dies In Two-Car Wreck

A 12-year-old Lucasville boy became Pickaway County's second fatality for 1975 when the auto he was a passenger failed to heed to a stop sign at the intersection of Routes 207 and 22, causing the two-car accident, 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, which also injured 11 other persons.

Anthony E. Alley, 12, Lucasville, was pronounced dead on arrival at Fayette County Memorial Hospital by Drs. Mead and Gebhart. The lad died of massive chest injuries although the Fayette County coronor will release a formal cause of death at a later time.

According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Dan Dewey, Amos Eugene Alley, 31, Route 4, Lucasville, was traveling north on State Route 207 when he failed to heed to a posted stop sign at the intersection of Route 207 and 22.

Continuing into the intersection, Alley's auto pulled into the path of a westbound car driven by Rosemary Beechler, 30, Route 4, Circleville.

The Alley vehicle spun around clockwise and went backwards into a ditch on 207. While the auto was spinning, Anthony Alley was thrown from the rear of the station wagon and landed striking an electric pole with his chest.

The impact of the accident caused the Beechler vehicle to spin around coming to rest in a ditch along Route 22.

Ms. Beechler was transported to Berger Hospital where she was treated and released for contusions to the left arm and left side of the head.

Also treated and released at the hospital were passengers in her auto, Grace Lightle, 35, Washington C. H. for shoulder pains, possible whiplash and lacerations to the side of the head and seven-year-old Kim Lightle, Washington C.H. for contusions to the head.

Reynolds Plans Plant Reduction

Reynolds Metals Company's Ashville Plant is reducing its aluminum building products plant operation for a planned period of 30 days beginning after the evening shift Thursday, according to Thomas E. Agee Jr., plant manager.

The move is aimed at reducing the plant's inventories which have mounted with the continuing depression in the housing market.

Approximately 100 employees will be affected by the reduction.

A crew of about 80 production people will be retained during the period.

Power Siting Panel Slates Public Hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Power Siting Commission decided Tuesday to hold public hearings so utilities and citizens have an opportunity to express their views, a spokeswoman said.

Eleven-year-old Roxanne L. Alley and four-year-old Franklin L. Alley were immediately taken to Children's Hospital in Columbus for skull fractures and are both listed in critical condition.

Franklin Alley was seated in the rear of the 1968 station wagon with the fatal victim.

Occupants of the Alley were transported to the Fayette County Memorial Hospital.

Amos Alley was treated and released for contusions to the chest. Also treated and released at the hospital were Shirley Alley, 33, fractured knee cap; Amos L. Alley Jr., 9, light skull injury and contusions; Melissa R. Alley, 7, lacerations to both knees and Virgil W. Alley, 8, for lacerations and contusions to the face. The injured were referred to a family doctor.

Geneva Alley, 50, Route 3, Lucasville, was treated and referred to a doctor for fractured right ribs.

Deputy Dewey is continuing the investigation of the accident.

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, and Deputies J. Phillip Brown, Bill Dountz and F. R. McCoy assisted Dewey at the scene of the fatal accident.

The Erwin-Dodson Funeral Home in Minford is completing funeral arrangements.

It would permit further legislative consideration of a four-part economic package the governor would like to see on the primary instead of the November ballot. The legislature didn't approve the Rhodes' package by March 5, the deadline of 90 days before the June election.

Introduction in the Senate of a bill that would prohibit the adding of fluoride to public water supplies pending further studies of its potential dangers. Sponsoring Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, said he was disturbed by a "possible link with cancer" after being briefed on problems in New Orleans which he said has the highest cancer rate in the nation.

In other action, Sen. Gene Slagle, D-26 Gallon, rounded up enough votes among Monday night absentees to secure finance committee approval of a bill advancing $19 million to the transportation department. The funds, to be paid back later with gas tax and highway user revenues, would enable the department to qualify for $47 million in federal highway matching funds now available.

Rep. Kenneth R. Cox, D-41 Barberton, asked reconsideration by the House of its vote to place a recreational lands amendment on the June ballot. His motion was a parliamentary move that enables the House to designate the proposition for the November ballot.

Cox wanted to delay the issue since as it now stands, since it would be the only statewide issue in June, and would necessitate special elections in communities where none is scheduled this June. His proposal provides that lands used for recreational purposes would qualify for a special tax rate.

LaForce Engine Gets New Chance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market slipped into a broad decline today in profit taking after the sharp rally of the past three months.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 4.54 at 766.35. Losers outnumbered gainers by close to a 3-1 margin in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

"I think this is a normal reaction after a very large gain," observed Newton D. Zinder at E.F. Hutton & Co. "The market has come a long way in a very short time."

S.S. Kresge was the most active issue on the Big Board, down 1/4 at 25 3/8.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index lost .30 to 78.14. Glamour issues were mostly lower. The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks gave up .27 to 44.33.

Heading the active list at the Amex was Larwin Realty & Mortgage Investors, up 1 1/4 at 6 1/4.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The LaForce automobile engine, catapulted to national attention and then relegated to obscurity within a few months, will get a second chance to show whether it can radically improve fuel economy.

A staff report published by the Senate Commerce Committee today recommended that new, independent tests be conducted on the controversial engine in an effort to resolve discrepancies among earlier federal, state and private tests.

The report said the Environmental Protection Agency, which flunked the engine last year, should test it again if the results are promising. The agency stands by its earlier findings but has agreed to follow the Senate investigators' recommendations.

"We are very pleased with the staff's recommendations and will do everything practical to follow them," said Edward LaForce of Richmond, Va., who, with his brother Robert, developed the LaForce-modified engine.

But Edward LaForce indicated in a telephone interview that he is skeptical of independent laboratories and said, "We will have to find one that doesn't have a conflict of interest."

LaForce spokesmen previously have claimed that many labs receive funding from EPA and thus can't be objective.

The inventor also said his firm, Ventur-F Inc, is trying to raise funds to buy its own testing equipment to run the same tests that the environmental agency conducted.

The Internal Revenue Service seized the LaForce lab about 10 days ago for nonpayment of employee withholding taxes and has been making arrangements to sell the property. And three former employees have filed suit to force the firm to pay them back wages they say the LaForces owe them.

Edward LaForce said he is optimistic that he and his brother will have those problems ironed out soon and can go back to work.

Several years ago, Edward LaForce and some of his associates were accused by the Securities and Exchange Commission of fraudulently selling unregistered securities in a company that was developing a device they claimed could remove harmful emissions and improve mileage.

LaForce denied the charges but consented to an injunction barring further sale of the securities.

LaForce said in the interview Tuesday that he had been unable, until now, to give the securities commission enough technical information about the invention to register the company and sell stock to raise money for research and development.

"Now our patent problems are cleared up and we will be able to give the SEC the information they need," he said.

Snow And Rain Cover Wide Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A moisture-filled late-winter storm dumped heavy snow from the central Plains to the Great Lakes region today and touched off downpours of rain from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward.

Six inches of snow fell on O'Neill, Neb., during the night, and 5 inches on Pickstown, S.D. Depths of 3 to 4 inches were common over the southern half of Minnesota and into northern Iowa.

Roads were snow-packed and slippery in many cases, but the lack of high winds prevented much drifting. Advisories for additional accumulations continued from northern Oklahoma to Upper Michigan.

A narrow band of freezing rain glazed areas south of the snow belt, from west-central Iowa to northwestern Illinois and southwestern Wisconsin.

Thundershowers roamed a wide area from the southern Plains and lower Mississippi Valley into the Ohio Valley, and in the Carolinas and Virginia. Nearly 2 inches of rain drenched Little Rock, Ark., during the night. One-inch soakings were common.

Flash-flood watches were posted for Arkansas and portions of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Virginia and the Carolinas.

Golfball-size hail pounded an area near Charleston, S.C., Tuesday night, and large hail also accompanied

A-C Board Adopts Appropriation

The Amanda-Clearcreek Board of education adopted the annual appropriation for 1975 in a regular meeting Monday night. The amount adopted the year was $1,471,402.42.

Athletic boosters requested the use of the Amanda and Stoutsville gyms on March 24, 26 and 27 and on April 1, 2, 3, and 4 to hold an industrial league basketball tournament. The board granted the permission for that use.

Board membership with the Metropolitan Educational Council was approved. The membership will assist districts to provide improved and expanded services for the students that they serve.

Permission was granted to the Library Club to go on a field trip on April 3 to the Ohio State University Health Science Library and to the University College Media Center.

The meeting was concluded with a discussion on the cafeteria and plans were made to continue the meeting until March 24.

Woman Governor May Join Club

HARTFORD (AP) — The first woman elected governor without succeeding her husband in office has become the first woman recommended for membership in the University Club of Hartford.

Gov. Ella Grasso's name must remain posted at the club for several weeks before membership becomes final.

Until Feb. 10, when its members voted to accept women, the club was open only to college-educated males.

Gov. Grasso was recommended for membership by state Supreme Court Chief Justice Charles S. House and attorney Joseph G. Lynch of Hartford.

She was elected governor last November and is the only woman governor in the country.

thunderstorms that swept San Angelo, Tex., and Memphis, Tenn.

A tornado watch was in effect in the pre-dawn hours for parts of southern Oklahoma, much of north-central Texas and a section of southwest Texas.

Dense fog again formed in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Tennessee and northern Florida before daybreak. Fair weather favored the northern Rockies and adjacent Plains and most of the Far West.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 5 at Butte, Mont., to 77 at Key West, Fla.

Demo Policy Vote Slated On Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic policy vote could determine the chances for House approval of emergency U.S. military aid for Cambodia, already narrowly endorsed by a Senate subcommittee.

The House Democratic Caucus policy vote scheduled today could provide the first, broad measure of House sentiment about President Ford's Cambodia aid request if enough members show up.

The special caucus was called to vote on a resolution opposing any new U.S. military aid to either South Vietnam or Cambodia.

A compromise $125-million authorization for military aid for Cambodia was approved by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee Tuesday 4 to 3. President Ford has recommended $222 million for Cambodia.

A House foreign affairs subcommittee deadlocked 3 to 3 on a proposed $83-million military aid authorization for Cambodia and postponed a decision until this afternoon.

"The only agreement in the subcommittee is that the situation is terminal," said Rep. Michael J. Harrington, D-Mass.

The swing vote is likely to be Rep. Gus Yatron, D-Pa., who was absent.

The proposal before the House subcommittee would authorize the Cambodia aid only a month at a time for three months and would require President Ford to certify to Congress each month that serious efforts are being made to negotiate an end to the Cambodia fighting.

Several members indicated the deadlock was not over approving military aid but over the restrictions under which it would be approved.

"It's not the problem of whether or not there isn't a desire to get out (of Cambodia) but how, and that is where the basic problems occur," Harrington said.

George Murphy Eyes Media Power

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Former Sen. George Murphy says the news media is the leading power wielder in Washington.

"They made one president retire and another one resign," the former actor told a group of Republican women.

Murphy, who lost a bid for a second Senate term as a Republican from California in 1970, added, "Second in power are the labor unions."

He said a group he called "the amalgamated troublemakers" was the third most powerful, followed by the Congress.

3 Persons Injured In Accidents

Eighteen-year-old Brian J. Brown, Ironton, received bruises to the ribs, when he was involved in a truck accident, 3:20 p.m. Tuesday on State Route 159.

Brown was attempting to pass a car on 159, when he went off the left berm of the road.

Losing control of the vehicle due to the load and mud, Brown drove the truck into a ditch. The truck turned over on its top throwing Brown partially out.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies Billy Huffman and James Dixon investigated the accident.

Two Logan Elm students received minor injuries when they were involved in a single-car accident on Jackson Road, 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy John Bost, Ruby A. Anderson, 18, Route 1, Kingston, was cresting a hill southbound on Jackson Road when she traveled off the right berm.

The auto veered off the left side of the road striking a fence and embankment. The vehicle flipped over coming to rest on its top.

Ms. Anderson told Deputy Bost she tried to avoid hitting another vehicle which was traveling northbound in her portion of the lane.

She was treated and released at Berger Hospital for contusions to the head. A passenger, Brenda K. Barnhart, 17, Route 1, Kingston, was also treated and released for abrasions to the back and right shoulder.

Deaths

MRS. BERNICE ROGERS

Mrs. Bernice Rogers, 66, Route 2, died 11:45 p.m. Tuesday at Berger Hospital.

Born Feb. 27, 1909 in Ross County, she was the daughter of Arthur and Florence McKittrick Queen.

The funeral service will be held 1:30 p.m. Friday at Defenbaugh-Wise and McCain Funeral Home with Pastor Roy Osborn officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. Thursday.

MRS. LENA M. CASE

Mrs. Lena M. Case, 76, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, died Tuesday at Quiet Acres Nursing Home near Washington C.H.

Born Aug. 31, 1896 in Scioto County, she was the daughter of George and Nora Koenig Eichenlaub.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Pauline Miller, Columbus; Mrs. Harley (Dorothy) Ford, Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Ralph (Iris) Rowe, Madison Mills; Mrs. Wendel (Betty) Bowdle, Florida; five sons, William, Bloomingburg; Harold and Donald, Florida; Russell, New Jersey; Robert, Frankfurt; 14 grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; one brother, Fred Eichenlaub, Otway.

The funeral service will be held 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Porter Funeral Home in Mt. Sterling with the Rev. Harold Messmer officiating. Burial will be in Madison Mills Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

MR. ALAN MARTIN TRAX

Funeral services for Mr. Alan Martin Trax, 46, Midland, Ontario, were held March 8. He was buried in Hornell, N. Y.

Mr. Trax was an engineer with RCA for 25 years, working at the Marion, Ind., Circleville and Midland, Ontario plants.

Born in Buffalo, N.Y., he was the son of Grace and Alan Trax. He is survived by his widow, Grace Roseann, one son, Michael Alan; three daughters, Carol Lorraine, Patricia Ann and Nancy Lee; one brother, Frederick.

He attended Long Beach State University, Long Beach, Calif. and Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y.

Mr. Trax was a past Kiwanis member, a 32nd degree mason and an executive of the Pickaway County Family YMCA. He was a veteran of the United States Army.

Shotgun, TV, Taken In Theft

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Dan Dewey is investigating an aggravated burglary at the James R. Holbrook residence, Route 3, occurring around 10:40 a.m. Tuesday.

The thieves, apparently spotted by area residents, gained entry to the home by forcing a rear door open using a screwdriver.

A shotgun, scanner, and portable television, valued at $295, were taken in the theft.

LaForce Engine Gets New Chance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The LaForce automobile engine, catapulted to national attention and then relegated to obscurity within a few months, will get a second chance to show whether it can radically improve fuel economy.

A staff report published by the Senate Commerce Committee today recommended that new, independent tests be conducted on the controversial engine in an effort to resolve discrepancies among earlier federal, state and private tests.

The report said the Environmental Protection Agency, which flunked the engine last year, should test it again if the results are promising. The agency stands by its earlier findings but has agreed to follow the Senate investigators' recommendations.

Several years ago, Edward LaForce and some of his associates were accused by the Securities and Exchange Commission of fraudulently selling unregistered securities in a company that was developing a device they claimed could remove harmful emissions and improve mileage.

LaForce denied the charges but consented to an injunction barring further sale of the securities.

LaForce said in the interview Tuesday that he had been unable, until now, to give the securities commission enough technical information about the invention to register the company and sell stock to raise money for research and development.

"Now our patent problems are cleared up and we will be able to give the SEC the information they need," he said.

Snow And Rain Cover Wide Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A moisture-filled late-winter storm dumped heavy snow from the central Plains to the Great Lakes region today and touched off downpours of rain from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward.

Six inches of snow fell on O'Neill, Neb., during the night, and 5 inches on Pickstown, S.D. Depths of 3 to 4 inches were common over the southern half of Minnesota and into northern Iowa.

Roads were snow-packed and slippery in many cases, but the lack of high winds prevented much drifting. Advisories for additional accumulations continued from northern Oklahoma to Upper Michigan.

A narrow band of freezing rain glazed areas south of the snow belt, from west-central Iowa to northwestern Illinois and southwestern Wisconsin.

Thundershowers roamed a wide area from the southern Plains and lower Mississippi Valley into the Ohio Valley, and in the Carolinas and Virginia. Nearly 2 inches of rain drenched Little Rock, Ark., during the night. One-inch soakings were common.

Flash-flood watches were posted for Arkansas and portions of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Virginia and the Carolinas.

Golfball-size hail pounded an area near Charleston, S.C., Tuesday night, and large hail also accompanied thunderstorms that swept San Angelo, Tex., and Memphis, Tenn.

A tornado watch was in effect in the pre-dawn hours for parts of southern Oklahoma, much of north-central Texas and a section of southwest Texas.

Dense fog again formed in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Tennessee and northern Florida before daybreak. Fair weather favored the northern Rockies and adjacent Plains and most of the Far West.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 5 at Butte, Mont., to 77 at Key West, Fla.

Demo Policy Vote Slated On Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic policy vote could determine the chances for House approval of emergency U.S. military aid for Cambodia, already narrowly endorsed by a Senate subcommittee.

The House Democratic Caucus policy vote scheduled today could provide the first, broad measure of House sentiment about President Ford's Cambodia aid request if enough members show up.

The special caucus was called to vote on a resolution opposing any new U.S. military aid to either South Vietnam or Cambodia.

A compromise $125-million authorization for military aid for Cambodia was approved by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee Tuesday 4 to 3. President Ford has recommended $222 million for Cambodia.

A House foreign affairs subcommittee deadlocked 3 to 3 on a proposed $83-million military aid authorization for Cambodia and postponed a decision until this afternoon.

"The only agreement in the subcommittee is that the situation is terminal," said Rep. Michael J. Harrington, D-Mass.

The swing vote is likely to be Rep. Gus Yatron, D-Pa., who was absent. The proposal before the House subcommittee would authorize the Cambodia aid only a month at a time for three months and would require President Ford to certify to Congress each month that serious efforts are being made to negotiate an end to the Cambodia fighting.

Several members indicated the deadlock was not over approving military aid but over the restrictions under which it would be approved.

"It's not the problem of whether or not there isn't a desire to get out (of Cambodia) but how, and that is where the basic problems occur," Harrington said.

George Murphy Eyes Media Power

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Former Sen. George Murphy says the news media is the leading power wielder in Washington.

"They made one president retire and another one resign," the former actor told a group of Republican women.

Murphy, who lost a bid for a second Senate term as a Republican from California in 1970, added, "Second in power are the labor unions."

He said a group he called "the amalgamated troublemakers" was the third most powerful, followed by the Congress.

3 Persons Injured In Accidents

Eighteen-year-old Brian J. Brown, Ironton, received bruises to the ribs, when he was involved in a truck accident, 3:20 p.m. Tuesday on State Route 159.

Brown was attempting to pass a car on 159, when he went off the left berm of the road.

Losing control of the vehicle due to the load and mud, Brown drove the truck into a ditch. The truck turned over on its top throwing Brown partially out.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies Billy Huffman and James Dixon investigated the accident.

Two Logan Elm students received minor injuries when they were involved in a single-car accident on Jackson Road, 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy John Bost, Ruby A. Anderson, 18, Route 1, Kingston, was cresting a hill southbound on Jackson Road when she traveled off the right berm.

The auto veered off the left side of the road striking a fence and embankment. The vehicle flipped over coming to rest on its top.

Ms. Anderson told Deputy Bost she tried to avoid hitting another vehicle which was traveling northbound in her portion of the lane.

She was treated and released at Berger Hospital for contusions to the head. A passenger, Brenda K. Barnhart, 17, Route 1, Kingston, was also treated and released for abrasions to the back and right shoulder.

The funeral service will be held 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Porter Funeral Home in Mt. Sterling with the Rev. Harold Messmer officiating. Burial will be in Madison Mills Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

MR. ALAN MARTIN TRAX

Funeral services for Mr. Alan Martin Trax, 46, Midland, Ontario, were held March 8. He was buried in Hornell, N.Y.

Mr. Trax was an engineer with RCA for 25 years, working at the Marion, Ind., Circleville and Midland, Ontario plants.

Born in Buffalo, N.Y., he was the son of Grace and Alan Trax. He is survived by his widow, Grace Roseann, one son, Michael Alan; three daughters, Carol Lorraine, Patricia Ann and Nancy Lee; one brother, Frederick.

He attended Long Beach State University, Long Beach, Calif. and Alfred University, Alfred, N.Y.

Mr. Trax was a past Kiwanis member, a 32nd degree mason and an executive of the Pickaway County Family YMCA. He was a veteran of the United States Army.

Shotgun, TV, Taken In Theft

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Dan Dewey is investigating an aggravated burglary at the James R. Holbrook residence, Route 3, occurring around 10:40 a.m. Tuesday.

The thieves, apparently spotted by area residents, gained entry to the home by forcing a rear door open using a screwdriver.

A shotgun, scanner, and portable television, valued at $295, were taken in the theft.

Dr. Aileen MacKenzie Explains Health Clinic To Service Personnel

SPEAKER AND GUESTS—Dr. Aileen MacKenzie, on the right, is shown at Pickaway County Social Service Luncheon on Tuesday. On her right is Sam Dettra, executive director of Pickaway County Community Action and Mike Melson, program planner developer for PICCA. Dr. MacKenzie told her audience of plans for a free health clinic in Pickaway County. On the table are books on health brought by Miss Eleanor Craig, librarian of Pickaway County District Public Library.

By MARION SINES
Herald Staff Writer

Dr. Aileen L. MacKenzie, M.D., M.P.H., Chief of the Division of Chronic Diseases, State of Ohio Department of Health in Columbus, was guest speaker for the Tuesday luncheon meeting of Pickaway County Social Services at St. Philip's Parish Hall.

Mrs. Vera Saunders presided over a brief business session and Leona Riegel gave a brief resume of Dr. MacKenzie's work before introducing her.

Dr. MacKenzie explained in detail the operation of a free health assessment to be held April 21 and 22 in Pickaway County at the 4-H and Grange building from 9 a.m.-noon and from 1-4 p.m. There will be 10 stations at the clinic: registration, height and weight, blood pressure, blood analysis, visual acuity, glaucoma, Cancer Society education, Lung Assn. education and if necessary emphysema test, podiatry education, examination and counseling. Confidential information will be sent to clients and their personal physicians as a follow-up by Pickaway County Board of Health. April 21 will be reserved for Senior Citizens of Pickaway Senior Center and April 22 for any adult in Pickaway County or Circleville.

Reservations may be made by calling Beverly Bechtel, home economist of Co-Op Agriculture Extension Service, at 474-7534.

Van Cliburn's Bathtub Overflows

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Pianist Van Cliburn was limbering up at a piano in his hotel room while his bathtub filled with water.

The water soon overflowed and began dropping on the heads of restaurant patrons below.

Hotel attendants mopped up the mess while Cliburn played to a sellout crowd Monday night.

Prince Philip Visits Ranch

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II of England, has visited a ranch owned by Honduran President Gen. Oswaldo Lopez-Arellano.

He went to the ranch Tuesday, which is 100 miles north of the capital, after meeting with British subjects living in Honduras.

The prince will travel to Costa Rica on Thursday aboard the royal yacht Britannia. entertained at Sunday dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hartley and sons, Brian, Chad and Timmy and Mrs. Alberta Davis and sons, Bruce, Jim and Shawn. The occasion was birthdays of Mrs. Hartley and Mrs. Davis.

The Kingston Junior Mixettes met last Sunday at the home of Beth Stockman and after a short business meeting, divided into smaller groups and proceeded to canvass the village for the Heart Fund. They returned to the Stockman home after for refreshments.

During the regular church services on Easter Sunday morning, the choir of the Kingston United Methodist Church will present a cantata, "Christ Is Risen" with music and narration by Robert J. Hughes and lyrics by Cordelia Spitzer. The choir director, Mrs. Carson Kelley, is in charge of the cantata and will play the piano while Mrs. Irwin Dresbach will be at the organ. Any one desiring to lend a hand is invited to come to practices. A few more voices in the choir will be welcome.

Thirteen-year-old Terri O'Hara won the spelling contest at her school and will represent Logan Elm School in the district spelling bee. Runner-up was Jackie Cove. Terri is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benny O'Hara and grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Davis of Kingston.

Mrs. Lucille Moore spent Saturday with her mother, Mrs. Pearl Willis and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Colgrove at their homes in Beaver. Accompanying her were another son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jack and their daughter and grandchildren, Mrs. Beverly Huffman, Kim and Bobbie, all of Columbus.

A Page Of Opinion

Adding Another 50

It may be true that the first 100 years are the hardest, but what of the next 50? A British physician predicts man soon may be living to 150, and he also seems to have a fairly good idea what it may be like.

To begin with, the human eye, the doctor says, begins to lose its elasticity at the age of 10. Next, at age 20, man's hearing begins to taper off. After 50 years the sense of taste deteriorates and the 75-year-old has only 88 of the 288 taste buds he had at maturity. And meanwhile, ever since he was 60, his sense of smell has been fading.

To top it all, in adulthood he loses height at the rate of half an inch every 20 years.

So what is the outlook for the individual of the future who has traveled those "hardest" 100 years and faces the final "easier" 50? Well, by the British doctor's calculations, his eyes will have been on the downhill 90 years. His hearing will have been deteriorating 80 years.

For the previous 50 years things would have been progressively less tasty, and for the same period the tantalizing odors of the finer things of life would have been less and less perceptible to him. And he would be about two inches shorter than in his prime.

All things considered, it looks as though those last 50 years had better be easier. Else the man of the future will not have enough of his original equipment left to care whether he lives that long.

Brakes On Progress

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — There's been a knock put on speed ever since Java Man, the first bloke who learned to stand upright, beat a hairy-four-gaited rival in a race to a fallen banana. Or to a slag-jawed female of the various species that preceded Homo sapiens.

One of the King Louies took a dim view of the first hot air balloons, because it was obvious that when airborne they would streak across Paris at the velocity of the wind. Besides, he decreed, the ozone covering the earth was only 200 feet thick and human beings could not breathe any higher than that. So, when he finally yielded to a test of the large and ominous paper bag, he ruled that the only passengers could be a duck and a sheep.

Daniel Webster denounced the railroad engine as an infernal machine that would set fires to the fields through which it fiercely belched, as well as abort cows. Robert Fulton taught the dickens from the sail makers guild. Sam Morse and Alexander Graham Bell were criticized by more leisurely deliverers of messages, probably dating back at least to the ghost of Pheidippides, who in 490 B.C. ran 26 miles 385 yards from Marathon to Athens to tell an early ancestor of Aristotle Onassis that the Greeks had busted the Persians in battle. The way things turned out he could have walked.

When my father was asked, half a century and more ago, if he would prefer to be transported by horse-drawn or automobile-horse to his last resting place, Mt. Olivet Cemetery, near Washington, D.C., he said: "Horse."

Whoever asked him the question was surprised. "Everybody's going to Mt. Olivet in the new automobile-horses these days," said the questioner. "Why horse?"

"Because I'm in no hurry," my father explained.

A long time later there was some thought that a plane and its pilot had little chance of surviving a break through the sound barrier, fly faster than the speed of sound. Vivid proof seemed available when the great British test pilot, war hero and designer de Havilland was killed in such an attempt. Time magazine described the sight of the calamity most graphically: it was as if someone had scratched a kitchen match across a hot stove lid.

Even the first sub-sonic passenger jets we depend upon so heavily today were highly suspect when the time came for them to improve the state of the art. They made "too much noise." Moreover, the first of them, the British Comet I, broke apart and was grounded. British aeronautical engineers found the cause, mental fatigue, and announced those findings to other nations who were going forward with plans for jet transport. The Russians ripped some gunmounts and a bombight out of a good twin-engine Mediv jet bomber, past sound-proofing kapok in the interior, renamed it the TU-104, and it still flies for Aeroflot.

When it came our time to step forward with something bigger and better, the Boeing Co. of Seattle couldn't borrow a dime to build what became the great 707. It had to gamble its entire gross worth of $15,000,000 to put together what it called the Dash-80. On its first nonstop flight across the country from Renton, Wash., the prototype was banned from landing at New York. "Too much noise." The great Boeing test pilot, Tex Johnston, brought us instead into Baltimore's Friendship Airport, a record-breaking three hours and 48 minutes after lift-off. There were no casualties in Baltimore, despite the cries of the Cassandra. Today, no U.S. commercial airport of any size larger than a football field could exist without jet traffic.

All of the above is a windy, jet-stream prelude to the fact that a determined lobby killed the United States' entrant in the supersonic field, a plane as far advanced beyond the British-French Concorde and the Russian TU-144, both now flying, as the 707 was beyond the Comet I (and 2) and the Soviet TU-104. Also this is a prelude to the fact that there is now an industrious group of environmentalists which opposes the recommendations by the Federal Aviation Administration that the Concorde be allowed to land in and take off from John F. Kennedy International Airport, New York, and Dulles, outside of Washington. The proviso would be that these supersonic aircraft, which already have been making the world's greatest airpower look silly, would come in and depart at subsonic speeds.

But we fight it like a plague, and plague that doesn't exist.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

On Feb. 24 we sat in our trailer at Shady Acres watching Darby Creek slowly rise and wondered when it was all to stop. At 10:30 p.m. my family requested I go with my daughter to her home in Circleville. Within hours the water rose to about six inches from the front door. My reasons for writing this letter are to try and thank and to give credit to the following people and organizations:

Pickaway County Red Cross, Bob Stout, Pickaway County React, Harry Wells, park owner; Keith Campbell, park manager; Jenni Burnett for watching my grandchildren, all our neighbors at Shady Acres, Frank Bowling Jr. for providing a tractor and men; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller, my brother who gave me shelter for 48 hours, my many friends who called with concern and last but not least my son Woody, my son-in-law and daughter Creed and Libby Stonerock, my daughter and son-in-law Laura and Dave Hulse. In my time of need these people were all there willing and ready with not thoughts of themselves only those they help.

Dear Editor:

In regard to the decision of The Ohio Liquor Commission which reversed

the decision made earlier by the Ohio Liquor Control Board in granting the liquor permits C-1 and C-2 to Circle G Corporation, formerly Dailey's Market, 289 Nicholas Drive, I would like to mention the following.

The Ohio Liquor Control Board had previously rejected the issuance of the above permits which was filed June 14, 1974. Since that time the director, Richard E. Guggenheim, has been replaced as well as the assistant attorney general, Norman Solze.

In spite of the protest of the Circleville Church of God, which is located within 400 feet from this store, plus more than 500 signatures from residents of the community, along with City Council voting against the issuance of the license, the school board and the executive committee of the ministerial association sending letters of protest, and Richard E. Guggenheim's decision stating the objections were well founded and reason for rejection of the permits, the permits were granted.

The main reasons the Director of Liquor Control Board gave for rejecting the license were: (a) proximity to the Circleville Church of God, Circleville High School, Nicholas Drive Elementary School, and a public playground (b) that children play at the playground and at the parking lot of the church (c) that 540 citizens signed a petition objecting to the issuance of the permits. Despite the reasons that have been given, Circle G Corporation appealed to the Liquor Commission in an attempt to have the decision reversed. The Commission reversed the previous decision stating the above was not valid reason for rejection of the permits, also stating the Liquor Control Board was in error. What do you think?

The permit was granted effective February 20, 1975. I was a subpoenaed witness at the hearing in Columbus, but did not receive notice concerning granting of the license except through the local news media. The Reverend Fred Mercer learned of the granting of the permit through the local paper. He then made a phone call to the assistant attorney general's office. He was then sent written notice of the granting of the permit. Does the majority really rule? Thank you.

Mansfield Woman Succumbs To Blaze

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Kathryn Martenet, 73, of Mansfield, died Tuesday in a fire in her room at the Woodlawn Nursing Home.

Fire Capt. David Karsmizki said there were indications a cigarette may have ignited the victim's clothing.

The fire was confined to the woman's room, he said, but smoke forced the evacuation of about 25 persons.

Whaley House, in Old Town, is reported to be the first brick house built in San Diego.

Main Street's first major improvement in over a quarter of a century was planned for August, 1955. Buildings on West Main Street were to be torn down and a new frontage built for the J.C. Penney Company's more than 13,000 square feet of floor space. Previously the store had only a little more than 4,000 square feet.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I work in a noisy factory. I'm worried about my hearing. My boss says there's no need to worry, but I would like to protect myself in some way.

Mr. R. E., Penn.

Dear Mr. E.:

A recent survey of the noise levels in industries and factories showed that more than 50 per cent of the people work in an environment potentially dangerous to their hearing.

The Surgeon General of the United States estimated that five to 15 million workers are exposed to noise that may eventually cause some form of deafness.

Your boss's assurance is not sufficient protection for you. Most "noisy" industries today offer protective devices to prevent hearing loss.

Special types of pre-molded earplugs offer excellent protection against the bombardment of noise. Many other devices such as those used to cup the ears at airports are effective, too.

Hearing can be protected if both the worker and the employer recognize the health hazard of noise pollution.

Who Needs One?

By JIM BISHOP

There was a solemn announcement on television news that the price of food at a certain zoo is about to jump from $74,000 a year to $84,000. Worse, the lions and tigers will be getting cheaper horse meat.

Bone-chilling. It's enough to freeze your frame. Millions of babies are starving but what is that compared to a man-eating tiger with an empty belly? Candidly, I wasn't aware that horse meat is graded. Does a retired racehorse cost more than a cowboy's mount?

It seems reasonable to suppose that a horse's hoof would cost less than his behind. Other than those anatomical particulars, I surmise that Secretariat would taste no better than some old wheezer pulling an ice wagon.

Personally, I am anti-zoo. If my word amounted to anything, I would send all the animals back to their native jungles. They've been in cages being stared at so long that some of them are afraid of the dark. I can't stand listening to a grown lion cry.

It would do them good to have to go out and hunt up food as the rest of us do. Some of them are so accustomed to catered meals that they wouldn't know how to hunt.

Anything in a public cage must be neurotic. Little brats throw peanuts at the elephants. Monkeys execute highly intimate functions in front of people. They don't realize that people do not do these things in the presence of monkeys.

Most of the big snakes have no place to slither to. They gave up moving to the opposite end of the pit because when they got there they couldn't think of anything to do. If they look up at the people who are looking down at them they see nothing but horror.

That's enough to give a tic to a boa constrictor. He can't even wrap himself around a mate because they won't give him one. Has anyone but a cracked zoologist ever volunteered to give a home to a rattlesnake? You bet your life. Some of us are pretty far gone, but not that far.

Animals have an instinctive intelligence. They do what is right for them without knowing why. Take the male lion. He is the laziest bum in the jungle. It's the wives in the pride who push the carts in the tall-grass supermarket.

Female lions have no lib at all. They feed the old man, bear the babies, and wait a long time to see the king of the jungle stir his stumps.

He will fight another lion to keep his wife. Why? She's no Raquel Welch you know. It's because he knows that if he loses her there goes the whole grocery store. He has visions of himself gaunt, can you tell me if this is good for arthritis?

Mrs. B.R., Tenn.

Dear Mrs. R.:

Hydrotherapy can be very soothing for the muscular and joint pains of arthritis. Hot sprays, water-activated baths and swimming bring more blood to the skin, the joints and the muscles of the body.

Spas all over the world have been using many forms of water therapy with great physical and psychological benefits.

Before you purchase an expensive piece of equipment, arrange to try it for a while in a gym or a health club. You will become the best judge of its value for your condition.

My doctor removes wax from my ears by irrigation. While I was visiting out-of-town, another doctor took the wax out with a pick. Which way is better?

Miss S.L.M., Ore.

Dear Miss M.:

Soft wax can be more easily removed by syringing. When wax is hard and impacted, special blunt instruments are used to remove it. Both methods are safe and effective.

With a yard of tongue hanging out, muttering, "Now let's see. The first step, I think, is to find an animal who is smaller and slower than I am."

With all their instinctive intelligence, I haven't heard of a group of beasts building a cage for humans and sending their kids to take a look. The little ones would probably glance at man, lick their chops, and say, "Din-din." They can eat us in a variety of colors.

We call them dumb animals but, if they had us in a cage, it would not occur to them to feed us. Conversely, we are so loaded with wisdom that we capture them, ship them to zoos, feed them, clean up their messy cages and give them free Medicare.

I could force myself to enjoy that sort of life. No work, no taxes and a chance to roar at the furry broad in the next cage. That, my friend, is living. Ask a tiger. He'll tell you it beats living in the jungle where a guy doesn't know where his next antelope is coming from.

A zoo elephant would have a tantrum if he was told he's going back to Africa. They are the only members of the animal kingdom who spend most of their time deciding who is going to be the lead elephant. This leads to much trumpeting, all of it off-key. Eventually they get in line, acres and acres of feet flattening bushes and small trees and, sometimes, slow bush-beaters.

I will admit that there was some sense to capturing animals in the old days because people would rather see one than be one. Now we have television. Through the use of long-range lenses and a man high in a tree—very high—we can see how they act at home.

But if horse meat is going to hop from $74,000 per zoo to $84,000, we have but two choices: either ship the cowards back home or feed them to each other...

Major Crime Rises In Cincinnati Area

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A 22 per cent increase in major crime occurred in Cincinnati during the first two months of 1975, but Cincinnati police say it's too early to attribute the increase on the current recession.

The biggest increase was noted in murders and non-negligent manslaughter. Both were up 150 per cent compared with the first two months of 1974.

The only decrease came in auto thefts, where a drop of almost nine per cent was registered.

Dear Editor:

In regard to the decision of The Ohio Liquor Commission which reversed

the decision made earlier by the Ohio Liquor Control Board in granting the liquor permits C-1 and C-2 to Circle G Corporation, formerly Dailey's Market, 289 Nicholas Drive, I would like to mention the following.

The Ohio Liquor Control Board had previously rejected the issuance of the above permits which was filed June 14, 1974. Since that time the director, Richard E. Guggenheim, has been replaced as well as the assistant attorney general, Norman Solze.

In spite of the protest of the Circleville Church of God, which is located within 400 feet from this store, plus more than 500 signatures from residents of the community, along with City Council voting against the issuance of the license, the school board and the executive committee of the ministerial association sending letters of protest, and Richard E. Guggenheim's decision stating the objections were well founded and reason for rejection of the permits, the permits were granted.

The main reasons the Director of Liquor Control Board gave for rejecting the license were: (a) proximity to the Circleville Church of God, Circleville High School, Nicholas Drive Elementary School, and a public playground (b) that children play at the playground and at the parking lot of the church (c) that 540 citizens signed a petition objecting to the issuance of the permits. Despite the reasons that have been given, Circle G Corporation appealed to the Liquor Commission in an attempt to have the decision reversed. The Commission reversed the previous decision stating the above was not valid reason for rejection of the permits, also stating the Liquor Control Board was in error. What do you think?

The permit was granted effective February 20, 1975. I was a subpoenaed witness at the hearing in Columbus, but did not receive notice concerning granting of the license except through the local news media. Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I work in a noisy factory. I'm worried about my hearing. My boss says there's no need to worry, but I would like to protect myself in some way.

Mr. R. E., Penn.

Dear Mr. E.:

A recent survey of the noise levels in industries and factories showed that more than 50 per cent of the people work in an environment potentially dangerous to their hearing.

The Surgeon General of the United States estimated that five to 15 million workers are exposed to noise that may eventually cause some form of deafness.

Your boss's assurance is not sufficient protection for you. Most "noisy" industries today offer protective devices to prevent hearing loss.

Special types of pre-molded earplugs offer excellent protection against the bombardment of noise. Many other devices such as those used to cup the ears at airports are effective, too.

Hearing can be protected if both the worker and the employer recognize the health hazard of noise pollution.

Who Needs One?

By JIM BISHOP

There was a solemn announcement on television news that the price of food at a certain zoo is about to jump from $74,000 a year to $84,000. Worse, the lions and tigers will be getting cheaper horse meat.

Bone-chilling. It's enough to freeze your frame. Millions of babies are starving but what is that compared to a man-eating tiger with an empty belly? Candidly, I wasn't aware that horse meat is graded. Does a retired racehorse cost more than a cowboy's mount?

It seems reasonable to suppose that a horse's hoof would cost less than his behind. Other than those anatomical particulars, I surmise that Secretariat would taste no better than some old wheezer pulling an ice wagon.

Personally, I am anti-zoo. If my word amounted to anything, I would send all the animals back to their native jungles. They've been in cages being stared at so long that some of them are afraid of the dark. I can't stand listening to a grown lion cry.

It would do them good to have to go out and hunt up food as the rest of us do. Some of them are so accustomed to catered meals that they wouldn't know how to hunt.

Anything in a public cage must be neurotic. Little brats throw peanuts at the elephants. Monkeys execute highly intimate functions in front of people. They don't realize that people do not do these things in the presence of monkeys.

Most of the big snakes have no place to slither to. They gave up moving to the opposite end of the pit because when they got there they couldn't think of anything to do. If they look up at the people who are looking down at them they see nothing but horror.

That's enough to give a tic to a boa constrictor. He can't even wrap himself around a mate because they won't give him one. Has anyone but a cracked zoologist ever volunteered to give a home to a rattlesnake? You bet your life. Some of us are pretty far gone, but not that far.

Animals have an instinctive intelligence. They do what is right for them without knowing why. Take the male lion. He is the laziest bum in the jungle. It's the wives in the pride who push the carts in the tall-grass supermarket.

Female lions have no lib at all. They feed the old man, bear the babies, and wait a long time to see the king of the jungle stir his stumps.

He will fight another lion to keep his wife. Why? She's no Raquel Welch you know. It's because he knows that if he loses her there goes the whole grocery store. He has visions of himself gaunt, can you tell me if this is good for arthritis?

Mrs. B.R., Tenn.

Dear Mrs. R.:

Hydrotherapy can be very soothing for the muscular and joint pains of arthritis. Hot sprays, water-activated baths and swimming bring more blood to the skin, the joints and the muscles of the body.

Spas all over the world have been using many forms of water therapy with great physical and psychological benefits.

Before you purchase an expensive piece of equipment, arrange to try it for a while in a gym or a health club. You will become the best judge of its value for your condition.

My doctor removes wax from my ears by irrigation. While I was visiting out-of-town, another doctor took the wax out with a pick. Which way is better?

Miss S.L.M., Ore.

Dear Miss M.:

Soft wax can be more easily removed by syringing. When wax is hard and impacted, special blunt instruments are used to remove it. Both methods are safe and effective.

with a yard of tongue hanging out, muttering, "Now let's see. The first step, I think, is to find an animal who is smaller and slower than I am."

With all their instinctive intelligence, I haven't heard of a group of beasts building a cage for humans and sending their kids to take a look. The little ones would probably glance at man, lick their chops, and say, "Din-din." They can eat us in a variety of colors.

We call them dumb animals but, if they had us in a cage, it would not occur to them to feed us. Conversely, we are so loaded with wisdom that we capture them, ship them to zoos, feed them, clean up their messy cages and give them free Medicare.

I could force myself to enjoy that sort of life. No work, no taxes and a chance to roar at the furry broad in the next cage. That, my friend, is living. Ask a tiger. He'll tell you it beats living in the jungle where a guy doesn't know where his next antelope is coming from.

A zoo elephant would have a tantrum if he was told he's going back to Africa. They are the only members of the animal kingdom who spend most of their time deciding who is going to be the lead elephant. This leads to much trumpeting, all of it off-key. Eventually they get in line, acres and acres of feet flattening bushes and small trees and, sometimes, slow bush-beaters.

I will admit that there was some sense to capturing animals in the old days because people would rather see one than be one. Now we have television. Through the use of long-range lenses and a man high in a tree—very high—we can see how they act at home.

But if horse meat is going to hop from $74,000 per zoo to $84,000, we have but two choices: either ship the cowards back home or feed them to each other...

Major Crime Rises In Cincinnati Area

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A 22 per cent increase in major crime occurred in Cincinnati during the first two months of 1975, but Cincinnati police say it's too early to attribute the increase on the current recession.

The biggest increase was noted in murders and non-negligent manslaughter. Both were up 150 per cent compared with the first two months of 1974.

The only decrease came in auto thefts, where a drop of almost nine per cent was registered.

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Optimism about future job prospects has risen among independent and small business enterprises, according to a survey conducted for the National Federation of Independent Business.

The San Mateo, Calif., organization, which claims a membership of 410,000 businesses ranging from small shopkeepers to operators of concerns with multimillion-dollar sales, said the turnaround was noted in a January survey.

"No panic is registered" by members regarding economic conditions, said Niel Heard, a spokesman for the organization, founded in 1943. "They appear to be concerned, but not alarmed."

Said Heard: "A lot of writers have phoned me with their mind already made up that small businesses are biting the dust in wholesale lots. Frankly, I can't find any evidence of this."

In addition to brighter employment prospects, he said that for the first time in 18 months the federation's members are more optimistic about obtaining financing, and that a growing percentage expect improved business during the next six months.

The data from which the federation draws its conclusions comes from surveys conducted by Faculty Associates, an independent research firm whose members include University of California and Stanford University personnel.

Heard said surveys reveal 20 per cent or more of smaller firms are actively looking for new workers but that most of the openings they seek to fill require skills.

Asked to explain how small, privately held businesses could weather the economic storm, Heard said one factor has been the "collapse" of some big corporate discount chains and other outlets.

"People, whether drawing wages or unemployment checks, still buy the necessities of life, and this business is now going to independents who have been able to stay open while their corporate competitors collapsed due to high overhead and often frantic financing plans," he said.

Hundreds of volunteer comments to the federation give perhaps a fuller picture than the statistics, said Heard.

"Many do not believe there is really a serious recession as yet," he said. "Some suspect government economic reports are highly colored for some future political move, and many feel newspaper headlines are building up an economic decline beyond its true proportions."

About 70 per cent of the business respondents to federation surveys are situated in nonmetropolitan areas, he said.

"As far as the decline in Detroit and in some other big industries is concerned, the feeling appears to be that big business and big labor, through constantly increasing demands, have created their own situation," he said.

Having priced themselves out of part of the market, he said, "both management and labor will have to reduce their sights."

Bills Help Consumers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two bills expanding consumer protection laws to home sales and to such businesses as health spas and dancing schools have been introduced in the Ohio General Assembly.

The bills, drafted by Atty. Gen. William J. Brown were introduced by Sen. David L. Headley, D-28 Barberton.

One would outlaw lifetime contracts by health spas, dancing schools, judo and karate schools and dating services, allow the consumer to cancel contracts within 10 days and require services to be provided within 180 days.

The other bill would bring real estate transactions under the Ohio Consumer Sales Practices Act and would require a merchant to be able to prove his advertising claims.

The bill also would impose a $1,000 first-offense fine for violation and allow courts to award attorneys' fees to citizens who win their lawsuits under the act.

Summit Library Wins State Grant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Library of Ohio trustees Tuesday approved a $47,350 grant to enlarge the free film services available to library users in Summit County.

The grant to the Akron-Summit County Public Library is to share the film collections of the University of Akron Library through the establishment of the Akron Cooperative Film Center.

Kurfess Awaiting Return To Power

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — He'll be the first to tell you he's no longer "Mr. Powerful" in the Ohio General Assembly, but House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess believes good things can happen to those who wait.

Kurfess, R-82 Perrysburg, doesn't deny that he nurses higher political ambitions, but he is leaving his options open. The governorship and the U.S. Senate are jobs he talks about.

"Remember that the Senate is a legislative body," he said. "On the other hand, my legislative experience has whetted an interest in state government and that, naturally, would propel one toward the governorship."

Kurfess, who just turned 45, first entered the legislative halls as a Senate page back in 1956. A year later, he was back as an elected House member. He was a freshman in law school at the time.

For five of his 19 years in the House, Kurfess was its speaker. He is now entering his second term as minority leader.

"Legislative leadership work is always frustrating—and more so for you if you are in the minority," he said. On the other hand, you have more latitude. You can be more freewheeling. You don't have to see that something is done today."

Kurfess said he understands that Gov. James A. Rhodes, also a Republican, must now deal with Democrats who control both houses of the General Assembly.

"He (Rhodes) is very accommodating to changing circumstances the way he sees them," he said. "We understand that."

Kurfess said it is Democrats that will get Rhodes' legislation through and Republicans can only help. "I think we are fortunate in having the governor we have."

Rhodes, he noted, has had Democratic support for most of his programs in his previous eight years as governor.

Kurfess said his philosophy of government basically matches that of the Republican Party—a conservative in fiscal affairs but "not an across-the-board conservative."

He said he was liberal in his college days, and is proud of legislation to aid parochial schools and requiring open housing that he pushed through despite his conservative leanings.

POPPER'S PENGUINS—Several of "Mr. Popper's Penguins" are, from the left, Richard Raterman as Captain Cook, Christina Haist as Greta, Bill Alkire as Elmer, and Rhonda Van Buskirk as Louise. The play will be presented on the Memorial Hall stage Saturday and Sunday at 2 and 4 p.m. as a Roundtown Players Children's Theater production.

Celeste Supports Tax Exemption

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Lt. Gov. Richard F. Celeste has given his endorsement to bills pending in the legislature to suspend the sales tax on autos to try to give that troubled industry a boost.

He said Tuesday, however, that he favors a suspension that would remain in effect until June 30, rather than provisions now in the legislation that would have it continue to next Jan. 1.

Celeste commented at a news conference at which he outlined a series of steps he said could be taken to give Ohio's economy a boost. Most of them, although in need of action, are "already on the public policy stove," the Democratic lieutenant governor said.

Miss Nancy J. Ater Weds Stewart Brownstein

MRS. STEWART BROWNSTEIN

The wedding of Miss Nancy J. Ater and Mr. Stewart Brownstein took place 3:30 p.m., March 8th, in Clarksburg United Methodist Church. The Rev. Michael Wright officiated the double ring ceremony before the altar adorned with white floral arrangements and flanked with palms and candelabrum.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Ater, Clarksburg, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brownstein, Columbus.

Mrs. Tom Kern, cousin of the bride, organist, played a program of nuptial selections preceding the ceremony. The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her full length gown of white maracaine crepe was trimmed with white beading at the neckline, wrists of the tapered sleeves and bodice. The skirt flowed gracefully to chapel length. The bride's bouffant silk illusion veil was held by a maracaine crepe bonnet accented with matching beading. She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and ivy atop her mother's white Bible. She also carried a handkerchief that belonged to her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Charles O. Smith.

Pythian Sisters Make Donation To Sunshine Girls

Pythian Sisters of Majors Temple 516 voted to make a cash donation to Pythian Sunshine Girls of Ohio during its Thursday evening meeting in the K of P lodge hall, with 22 members attending.

Pauline Smallwood, most excellent chief, presided at the business session. A letter was read from Pythian Sunshine Girls of Ohio regarding the 25th annual Grand Council to be held June 27th and 28th at Congress Inn, Monroe, for which the donation was made.

Mrs. Smallwood reminded members to visit and send cards to sick and shut-in members. Katherine Meade, PD-DGC, was given special recognition. The gift box for the evening was won by Lloyd Fisher.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with a floral arrangement using the St. Patrick's Day theme. Lucille Montgomery, chairman of the committee, was assisted by Ethel Lane and Opal Vance.

The next regular meeting will be held March 20th in the K of P lodge hall.

Solaqua Club Has Program On Growing Vegetables

Arthur Swingle of Walnut Twp., was guest speaker for the March meeting of Solaqua Garden Club held recently at the home of Mrs. Austin Hoover, Route 2.

Mrs. Glen Rinehart opened the meeting by leading members in reading poetry from the club yearbook. For devotions, Mrs. Clyde Herron read the poems, "The Holy Bible," "Time" and "God's Personal Diplomacy." Scripture was from Luke 20:13 and silent prayer was for Mrs. C. W. Hedges in memory of Mrs. John Hedges.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. James Holt, program chairman, introduced Mr. Swingle who spoke on vegetable gardens. He classified garden plants as annuals and perennials, and told how and where to plant them. He displayed plant specimens in flats along with individual peat pots to show how to plant and transplant to larger pots and on the outside. He gave suggestions as how to feed, water and care for plants after permanent placing.

Refreshments in the St. Patrick theme were served to 13 members and guests, including Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swingle.

News Of Interest To Women

6 The Circleville Herald, Wednesday March 12, 1975

Miss Nancy J. Ater Weds Stewart Brownstein

MRS. STEWART BROWNSTEIN

The wedding of Miss Nancy J. Ater and Mr. Stewart Brownstein took place 3:30 p.m., March 8th, in Clarksburg United Methodist Church. The Rev. Michael Wright officiated the double ring ceremony before the altar adorned with white floral arrangements and flanked with palms and candelabrum.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Ater, Clarksburg, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brownstein, Columbus.

Mrs. Tom Kern, cousin of the bride, organist, played a program of nuptial selections preceding the ceremony.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her full length gown of white maracaine crepe was trimmed with white beading at the neckline, wrists of the tapered sleeves and bodice. The skirt flowed gracefully to chapel length. The bride's bouffant silk illusion veil was held by a maracaine crepe bonnet accented with matching beading. She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and ivy atop her mother's white Bible. She also carried a handkerchief that belonged to her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Charles O. Smith.

Maid of honor was Miss Ruth Ann Ater, sister of the bride. She was attired in a formal length dark pink gown in the empire style with a V-neckline and matching sash. She carried a single long stemmed rose with baby's breath and pink streamers.

Miss Fran Zelek, Miss Martha Daw, Miss Mary Michels, Miss Elizabeth Carter and Mrs. Geoffrey Souers, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. They were gowned as the honor attendant and carried single pink roses. Miss Lisa Ater, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book.

Mr. Steve Brownstein served his brother as best man. Ushers included Mr. Jim Manos, Mr. Paul McIntyre, Mr. Dan Ater, brother of the bride, Mr. Kim Cappel and Mr. Steve Day.

The bride's mother selected a light blue crepe gown with a V-neckline and empire bodice trimmed with beading, and a matching jacket. The bridegroom's mother wore a chiffon gown with a floral design on a wine background with a matching jacket. Corsages for both mothers were of cymbidium orchids.

A reception in the banquet room of the L-K Restaurant in Circleville, followed the ceremony. The three tiered wedding cake was surrounded with carnations and baby's breath and flanked with candelabra holding pink tapers.

As the couple left for a wedding trip the bride wore a mint green knit dress with light brown accessories. They will reside at 746 Thurber Drive West, Apt. B, Columbus.

The new Mrs. Brownstein graduated from Adena High School and the Ohio State University. She is currently employed as a teacher at Groveport Madison Middle School. She is an alumna of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority.

Mr. Brownstein is a graduate of Eastmoor High School and the Ohio State University. He is employed as sales representative for Allied Distributors in Columbus. He is an alumnus of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Cincinnati, Cleveland, Loraine, Lima, Zanesville, Columbus, Circleville, Chillicothe and Toledo, Ohio; Illinois, California, Florida, Washington D.C., Iowa and Michigan.

Pythian Sisters Make Donation To Sunshine Girls

Pythian Sisters of Majors Temple 516 voted to make a cash donation to Pythian Sunshine Girls of Ohio during its Thursday evening meeting in the K of P lodge hall, with 22 members attending.

Pauline Smallwood, most excellent chief, presided at the business session. A letter was read from Pythian Sunshine Girls of Ohio regarding the 25th annual Grand Council to be held June 27th and 28th at Congress Inn, Monroe, for which the donation was made.

Mrs. Smallwood reminded members to visit and send cards to sick and shut-in members. Katherine Meade, PD-DGC, was given special recognition. The gift box for the evening was won by Lloyd Fisher.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with a floral arrangement using the St. Patrick's Day theme. Lucille Montgomery, chairman of the committee, was assisted by Ethel Lane and Opal Vance.

The next regular meeting will be held March 20th in the K of P lodge hall.

Solaqua Club Has Program On Growing Vegetables

Arthur Swingle of Walnut Twp., was guest speaker for the March meeting of Solaqua Garden Club held recently at the home of Mrs. Austin Hoover, Route 2.

Mrs. Glen Rinehart opened the meeting by leading members in reading poetry from the club yearbook. For devotions, Mrs. Clyde Herron read the poems, "The Holy Bible," "Time" and "God's Personal Diplomacy." Scripture was from Luke 20:13 and silent prayer was for Mrs. C. W. Hedges in memory of Mrs. John Hedges.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. James Holt, program chairman, introduced Mr. Swingle who spoke on vegetable gardens. COST PER SERVING IS A GOOD GUIDE

Price is only one indicator of the real costs of food. Cost per serving is a better guide to the true value of the food you buy. The total price of an item and number of servings you will get from that item make up the cost per serving to you. To figure the cost per serving, divide the price of the item by the number of servings you will get from it.

Frequently, the cost per serving is affected more by the number of servings you will get than it is by the price. Knowing the number of servings is just as important as knowing the price.

These comparisons may seem difficult at first but with a little practice you can determine how many servings an item will provide for your family. Remember, that a serving for one person is often not the same as a serving for another person. The size of a serving will depend on a person's appetite and food likes and dislikes.

The cost per serving method can be used to determine the best buys in meat. As a general rule, boneless meat and poultry provide three to four servings per pound. Bone-in-meat such as steaks and roasts provide two to three servings per pound, and bony meat and poultry such as spareribs and turkey provide one serving per pound.

This method can also be used to choose among varieties of fresh fruits and vegetables or to decide which is more economical among the fresh, frozen, canned or dried versions of a product.

Practice at home figuring the cost per serving using the items listed in newspaper ads. Learning to use the cost per serving method will help you determine what the best buys are for your family.

Three Students New At Westfall

By VICKIE TOMPSON
JACQUI RICE
And RON LYBARGER

Eddie Riser, 17, a junior at the Pickaway-Ross Vocational Center is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Riser, Route 1, Orient.

EDDIE RISER

He is in the Machine Shop Program and is a member of VICA. His likes are horse-back riding, football, basketball, and Cindy.

Eddie says, "He likes being a student of Westfall's District and hopes to get to know the students better." He plans to become a good machinist when he graduates.

Eddie Combs is a new student at Westfall this year. He is sixteen-years-old and a member of the freshmen class. Eddie lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Combs, Route 1, Orient.

EDDIE COMBS

Before coming to Westfall, Eddie went to Buckeye Boys Ranch.

He has a variety of likes. Eddie enjoys tennis, baseball, and sports like this. His major dislike is one that many people share. This particular dislike happens to be school.

Eddie's opinion of Westfall is that it is a pretty good school and the students are pretty good.

Theresa Monett Receives OSU Scholarship

By VANESSA LONG

Theresa Monett, senior is a little ahead of most college-bound students as she recently received a scholarship.

The scholarship was given by the Pickaway County Ohio State University Alumni. The scholarship will pay one year tuition at Ohio State. The money came from the Ohio State University Scholarship Program fund.

She was one out of two chosen in the county to receive the scholarships.

Theresa, 18, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Monett, Route 2, Orient.

She plans to major in industrial design at OSU this fall.

Choirs Perform

By NANCY SCHEIN

The high school and the Junior high choir concert was held March 4 in the school auditorium. The high school choir started the program with the numbers: "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled," "Go and Tell John," "Sam Was A Man," and "Ave Verum." The choir is under the direction of Mrs. Pauline Swinehart, and accompanied by Nancy Schein.

Four ensembles sang the songs that they had performed at Solo and Ensemble Contest. First, a boys' quartet sang, "Sing Me A Chanty," followed by a girls' ensemble singing, "How Merrily We Live." A mixed quartet sang, "A Rose Touched by the Sun's Warm Rays," "He's Gone Away."

The Junior High Choir sang four songs. "I Believe in Music," "The Entertainer," "Mary Ann," and "I Shall Sing."

The program was closed by the high school choir singing: "Blowin' in the Wind," "The Way We Were," "Top of the World," and "The Water is Wide."

Sandi McGraw is a recently gained freshman at Westfall. She is fifteen-years-old and lives in Derby.

SANDI MCGRAW

Her parents are Gene and Peggy McGraw who reside outside Mt. Sterling. Sandi previously attended Madison Plains. She says she likes this school better and also likes the faculty. She also thinks the students are easy to get along with.

Some of her other likes are music, swimming and art. She has some dislikes though, too. Some are: studying, having to go to school and tall tales.

JIM FAUSNAUGH

Junior President Featured

By VANESSA LONG

The Junior class president this year is Jim Fausnaugh. Jim, 17, lives with his parents Mr. and Mrs. James Fausnaugh at Route 3, Circleville.

He feels that the people at WHS are really friendly and the teachers have great respect for students which helps encourage learning.

"The Juniors are really a great group of hard workers. We are really busy getting the prom organized," he added.

Jim likes sports, especially baseball, motorcycles, and just being active in school affairs. He dislikes the lack of school spirit at WHS.

He is a member of the National Honor Society, 4-H, Varsity "W" and the president of the FFA.

Jim's advice to the lowerclassmen is "get involved with school functions and help raise school spirit."

He ended the interview with the following observations: "I believe Westfall has a great academic program for its size school. I think the new middle school will restore pride in the Mustangs when the high school has a building of its own."

Westfall School Spirit Grows

By CONNIE DRUMMOND

As a cheerleader for four years at Westfall High School, I think the spirit this year has been one of the best and is still growing, this was proven by the cheering crowd at the tournaments. Everyone was cheering for the boys on the team hoping for a win, but cheering was not enough as the Mustangs were stopped by a score of 68-64.

As everyone knows spirit can die and it can take a long time to build back up. I feel it's growing here and will for years to come.

The cheerleaders would like to thank everyone for showing their spirit this year and to keep up the good work.

Playing and cheering for their last game were these seniors who will miss it very much.

They were asked about "How they felt about not being able to play or cheer again."

Doug Williams — senior ball player, residing at Route 3, Orient, Clarks Lake, with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, Doug said, "I'll really miss playing ball at Westfall. It seems like a part of your life is being taken from you."

Cindy Schleich — Cheerleader, residing at Williamsport with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Don Schleich. Cindy said, "She feels sad and will miss it. She wishes everyone else going out this year Good Luck."

Karen Marshall — cheerleader, residing at Route 2, Circleville with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Marshall. Karen's reply was, "I've really had a great time cheering this year and will never forget the fun times at camp. It has been an experience that I will always remember."

Connie Drummond — cheerleader,

residing at Route 1, Clarksburg with her parents Mr. and Mrs. David Drummond. Connie said, "I will miss it very much and have enjoyed cheering for the team and school. I want to wish the girls Good Luck next year, and hope the spirit grows."

These people along with other members of the squads will be honored at the Basketball Banquet March 18th at a carry-in dinner starting at 6:30 p.m.

By SHIRLEY FIELDS

This year thirty new members were tapped into the Westfall Chapter of the National Honor Society. The ceremony opened with a prelude played by Nancy Schein followed by Mary Musselman presenting the invocation. Doug Williams, president of the Westfall Chapter, led the students in the Pledge of Allegiance. Tom Schooley, read the history of the society.

Mary Karn represented the Spirit of the Torch calling on the National Honor Society membership qualities: Character, Lynn Stillings; Scholarship, Bunny Stevens; Leadership, Karen Marshall; and Service, Theresa Conley. Each girl gave a short speech about each quality. Robert Stone then explained the method of selecting new members.

The members of the National Honor Society then proceeded to tap the new members.

Each new member tapped was presented with a candle which he or she lighted from the NHS Torch. The new members were led in the National Honor Society pledge by Cathy Welsh. This was followed by the benediction given by Jane Schein.

Special entertainment was provided by a clarinet quartet, consisting of Lynn Huston, Kim Finch, Jacqui Rice, and Rosemary Carle. Following the Tapping ceremony, a tea was enjoyed by the members and their parents in the Home Economics room.

New members tapped into the National Honor Society were, Ron Lybarger, Kim Hastings, Sheila Wiseman, Nancy Schein, Mary Jo Carle, Fonda Howard, Vanessa Long, Frank Howson, Tony Conley, John Johnston, Lynn Huston, Harry Canter, Dawn Corbin, Brian Neff, Terri Vanderpool, Ann Bower, Cindy Hamman, Doreen Downs,

Jacqui Rice, Peggy Overly, Amy Ashcraft, Janet Morris, Jeff Brown, Tina Cottrill, Karen Strietenberger, Mike Covault, Jim Fausnaugh, Jeff Lane, Stephanie Fraim and Jan Ellison.

Three Students New At Westfall

By VICKIE TOMPSON
JACQUI RICE
And RON LYBARGER

Eddie Riser, 17, a junior at the Pickaway-Ross Vocational Center is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Riser, Route 1, Orient.

EDDIE RISER

He is in the Machine Shop Program and is a member of VICA. His likes are horse-back riding, football, basketball, and Cindy.

Eddie says, "He likes being a student of Westfall's District and hopes to get to know the students better." He plans to become a good machinist when he graduates.

Eddie Combs is a new student at Westfall this year. He is sixteen-years-old and a member of the freshmen class. Eddie lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Combs, Route 1, Orient.

EDDIE COMBS

Before coming to Westfall, Eddie went to Buckeye Boys Ranch.

He has a variety of likes. Eddie enjoys tennis, baseball, and sports like this. His major dislike is one that many people share. This particular dislike happens to be school.

Eddie's opinion of Westfall is that it is a pretty good school and the students are pretty good.

Theresa Monett Receives OSU Scholarship

By VANESSA LONG

Theresa Monett, senior is a little ahead of most college-bound students as she recently received a scholarship.

The scholarship was given by the Pickaway County Ohio State University Alumni. The scholarship will pay one year tuition at Ohio State. The money came from the Ohio State University Scholarship Program fund.

She was one out of two chosen in the county to receive the scholarships.

Theresa, 18, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Monett, Route 2, Orient.

She plans to major in industrial design at OSU this fall.

Choirs Perform

By NANCY SCHEIN

The high school and the Junior high choir concert was held March 4 in the school auditorium. The high school choir started the program with the numbers: "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled," "Go and Tell John," "Sam Was A Man," and "Ave Verum." The choir is under the direction of Mrs. Pauline Swinehart, and accompanied by Nancy Schein.

Four ensembles sang the songs that they had performed at Solo and Ensemble Contest. First, a boys' quartet sang, "Sing Me A Chanty," followed by a girls' ensemble singing, "How Merrily We Live." A mixed quartet sang, "A Rose Touched by the Sun's Warm Rays," "He's Gone Away."

The Junior High Choir sang four songs, "I Believe in Music," "The Entertainer," "Mary Ann," and "I Shall Sing."

The program was closed by the high school choir singing: "Blowin' in the Wind," "The Way We Were," "Top of the World," and "The Water is Wide."

Sandi McGraw is a recently gained freshman at Westfall. She is fifteen-years-old and lives in Derby.

SANDI MCGRAW

Her parents are Gene and Peggy McGraw who reside outside Mt. Sterling. Sandi previously attended Madison Plains. She says she likes this school better and also likes the faculty. She also thinks the students are easy to get along with.

Some of her other likes are music, swimming and art. She has some dislikes though, too. Some are: studying, having to go to school and tattle tales.

JIM FAUSNAUGH

Junior President Featured

By VANESSA LONG

The Junior class president this year is Jim Fausnaugh. Jim, 17, lives with his parents Mr. and Mrs. James Fausnaugh at Route 3, Circleville.

He feels that the people at WHS are really friendly and the teachers have great respect for students which helps encourage learning.

"The Juniors are really a great group of hard workers. We are really busy getting the prom organized," he added.

Jim likes sports, especially baseball, motorcycles, and just being active in school affairs. He dislikes the lack of school spirit at WHS.

He is a member of the National Honor Society, 4-H, Varsity "W" and the president of the FFA.

Jim's advice to the lowerclassmen is "get involved with school functions and help raise school spirit."

He ended the interview with the following observations: "I believe Westfall has a great academic program for its size school. I think the new middle school will restore pride in the Mustangs when the high school has a building of its own."

Westfall School Spirit Grows

By CONNIE DRUMMOND

As a cheerleader for four years at Westfall High School, I think the spirit this year has been one of the best and is still growing, this was proven by the cheering crowd at the tournaments. Everyone was cheering for the boys on the team hoping for a win, but cheering was not enough as the Mustangs were stopped by a score of 68-64.

As everyone knows spirit can die and it can take a long time to build back up. I feel it's growing here and will for years to come.

The cheerleaders would like to thank everyone for showing their spirit this year and to keep up the good work.

Playing and cheering for their last game were these seniors who will miss it very much.

They were asked about "How they felt about not being able to play or cheer again."

Doug Williams — senior ball player, residing at Route 3, Orient, Clarks Lake, with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, Doug said, "I'll really miss playing ball at Westfall. It seems like a part of your life is being taken from you."

Cindy Schleich — Cheerleader, residing at Williamsport with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Don Schleich. Cindy said, "She feels sad and will miss it. She wishes everyone else going out this year Good Luck."

Karen Marshall — cheerleader, residing at Route 2, Circleville with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Marshall. Karen's reply was, "I've really had a great time cheering this year and will never forget the fun times at camp. It has been an experience that I will always remember."

Connie Drummond — cheerleader,

residing at Route 1, Clarksburg with her parents Mr. and Mrs. David Drummond. Connie said, "I will miss it very much and have enjoyed cheering for the team and school. I want to wish the girls Good Luck next year, and hope the spirit grows."

These people along with other members of the squads will be honored at the Basketball Banquet March 18th at a carry-in dinner starting at 6:30 p.m.

Columbia Gas Seeks Removal Of Wellhead Price Controls

COLUMBUS — Decontrolling the price of new natural gas at the wellhead will mean higher natural gas bills in the future, but it ultimately would mean more, rather than less, money in the pockets of Ohio wage-earners, according to H. Clifford Taylor, president of the Ohio Gas Association.

"Without more gas, jobs are in jeopardy," Taylor said in an article published in the current issue of the OGA Newsletter.

He said that the best estimates of the gas industry are that an average customer would pay an extra $13 a year for the next ten years if the price of new gas were decontrolled at the wellhead.

"At an average wage of $3.00 an hour, it would take at least two years before the increases in the price of gas service would cost a person who holds a job in industry as much as if he were laid off for only one day as a result of curtailment of gas supplies to industries," Taylor, a vice president for Columbia Gas of Ohio, said.

"More important is the fact that decontrol would encourage the development of more gas at a price which would still be quite low when compared to other fuels," he said.

Taylor said gas producers are presently discouraged from selling gas to the interstate market by the low price which the Federal Power Commission has set for such gas.

Interstate gas is essential to Ohio, Taylor said, since Ohio is dependent on imported natural gas to meet its gas needs.

"In a normal year, Ohio gas customers consume 1.2 trillion cubic feet of natural gas, but our state produces only about a hundred billion cubic feet of gas annually."

"Even if Ohio's gas production doubled, the state must still import a trillion cubic feet of gas every year," he said.

But because of unrealistic price regulation by the Federal Power Commission on gas committed to the interstate market, producers are selling their gas intrastate where it is not subject to federal regulation, Taylor said.

"This is understandable. Intrastate production of natural gas is profitable. Interstate production is not," Taylor said.

He pointed to Louisiana where, last November, the top price paid for intrastate gas was $2.12 a thousand cubic feet. "This was at the same time that the FPC was inching the price of interstate gas up to 50 cents a thousand," Taylor said.

"Let's face it. If you had natural gas to sell, would you sell it for 50 cents a thousand cubic feet if someone else offered $2.12 per thousand?" Taylor asked.

"This doesn't mean that decontrol would bring about runaway prices. It takes time to develop gas fields, so the gas would be developed gradually. Customers would pay the higher prices only for new gas and then only when that gas actually became available for distribution," Taylor said.

He added that the gas industry is concerned about what impact higher gas bills will have on the consumer. But he pointed out these increases must be weighed against the cost of the consumer that is forced to use much higher-priced alternate fuels or the impact on the economy if gas shortages force industries to reduce production levels and lay off employees.

Taylor emphasized that, as important as decontrol is, it is only one solution to the gas shortage.

He stressed the need for immediate action on such projects as the exploration and development of gas reserves on the Atlantic Outer Continental Shelf, the development of the Alaskan and Canadian Arctic gas pipelines, the importation of liquefied natural gas from abroad and the establishment of national energy research programs.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

He's Against Fiddling Around

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "Old-Fashion Mother" concerning her daughter and boyfriend practicing guitar in her bedroom gave me mixed feelings. They may not have been doing anything "wrong," but if allowed, the bedroom might get to be a convenient place to visit for a bit of privacy.

I am married now, but when I was in high school, I had a similar experience. A girl in one of my classes offered to teach me how to play the violin. She practiced in her bedroom, so that is where the lessons commenced.

Her Mother came in and told us that she was going next door for a little while. Nothing "bad" happened but I confess, I felt very uncomfortable the whole time.

I'm glad that in this case there were no more lessons. I might add that a year or two later this girl had to get married.

OLD-FASHION FATHER

DEAR FATHER: Your young classmate obviously did a little fiddling around. But why mistrust the entire next generation because of one violinist's accidental?

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for eight years and have two children. I used to have a really nice figure, but now I have absolutely no bust at all. I have been wearing padded bras so I'll look halfway decent in clothes.

I have been thinking about getting some silicone implants, but need to know more about it. How much does it cost? And how long does it take to fully recover from such surgery?

You see my husband is going abroad for six weeks and I may want to surprise him with a new me when he comes back.

Hurry your answer, please.

CONSIDERING IT

DEAR CONSIDERING: The healing time varies with the patient, and the cost varies with the doctor.

Talk to your own plastic surgeon. I seldom offer unsolicited advice but in your case I'll make an exception, and urge you NOT to surprise your husband with a new "you." If you're doing it for him, he may prefer the old "you."

DEAR ABBY: I am truly desperate. Never in my wildest dreams did I ever think that when I became a mother it would be the loneliest time of my life. I am so depressed that I can't even communicate with my husband anymore, and he is tired of hearing it.

Abby, if I had even an inkling that motherhood was such a one-sided affair, I swear I would not have had a baby.

I love my three-month-old baby very much, and I love my husband, too, but when does it all come together? It seems all I do is make formula and wash diapers now, and my husband and myself caring about each other comes last on the list.

Why did everything change so drastically? What I expected to be the happiest time of our lives has turned out to be a nightmare.

I have lost all my freedom, my husband (emotionally, so far) and my own identity. In spite of being a wife and mother now, I am still ME! I can't wait to go back to my job at the office.

I feel so guilty about the way I feel, but I can't help it. Please help me, Abby. I love my husband, but I have never been more miserable and I don't want to lose what once was a good marriage.

LOST MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Please tell your doctor what you have told me. You are apparently suffering from "post-partum depression". It's not uncommon, and your doctor will help you get over it. Don't despair. Many new mothers have experienced the feelings you describe, but it need not last long.

Roger Bowers Appointed State Examiner

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson announced the appointment of Roger E. Bowers as a state examiner in the Administrative Division for the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices.

Bowers graduated from Bliss Business College and was last employed as Chief of Weights and Measures in the Department of Agriculture for the State of Ohio.

He is an active member of the Circleville Kiwanis Club, Masonic Lodge, Knights of Pythias and the American Legion-Circleville Post.

He and his wife, Marilyn have five children and reside at 479 N. Court Street.

Dying Woman Holds Adoption Interviews

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Linda Hardy, a terminal cancer patient whose last wish is to find a good home for her three children, was interviewing candidates from her hospital bed Tuesday.

"I'm not looking for much," 32-year-old Mrs. Hardy said. "I definitely want a Catholic family, someone living who would keep the kids together, but I don't care whether they're rich or not."

Mrs. Hardy, who was confined Saturday for an operation this week, said her choice will rest on "what I feel in my heart and what I feel is best for my children."

But the children — Sheri, 12, Joey, 10, and Amber, 6 — will get the final say-so, she added.

Mrs. Hardy said her husband deserted the family five years ago and she hasn't heard from him since.

She has supported the family on $209 a month in welfare payments and money she occasionally receives from her father, a 57-year-old truck driver.

Mrs. Hardy learned she had cancer two years ago when she discovered a lump in her breast. She has undergone several operations since then.

William Bradway, her doctor, said he anticipated operating again Thursday.

"With breast cancer you can buy time," he said. "Hopefully, we can buy her a few more months with operations, then we'll go to drugs to keep her alive a while longer."

Mrs. Hardy said she filed for a divorce about a week ago to gain custody of the children so she can assign a guardian for them.

"I have about five weeks to go until the divorce is final," she said. "I hope I can last that long and everything can be taken care of."

William Bradway, her doctor, said he anticipated operating again Thursday.

"With breast cancer you can buy time," he said. "Hopefully, we can buy her a few more months with operations, then we'll go to drugs to keep her alive a while longer."

Mrs. Hardy said she filed for a divorce about a week ago to gain custody of the children so she can assign a guardian for them.

"I have about five weeks to go until the divorce is final," she said. "I hope I can last that long and everything can be taken care of."

Eastern Cage Stars Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dave Heck, Rich Babcock and Neal Luedy are the Ohio Eastern District's outstanding high school basketball players of 1974-75.

The trio was selected by a district panel of sports writers and broadcasters, solely on their regular season performances.

Heck, the Eastern Class AAA Player of the Year, averaged 19 points this season for New Philadelphia. The 6-foot-5 senior has paced the Quakers in scoring the last two seasons.

Babcock, a 6-foot senior scoring machine from Ridgewood, claimed the area Class AA Player of the Year honors for averaging 32 points per game.

Luedy earned the area Class A No. 1 player title. The 6-foot senior from Shadyside carried a 22-point scoring mark during the season.

Zanesville's Dick Taylor and Chuck Watt of Steubenville shared the Eastern Class AAA Coach of the Year crown. Taylor was 17-1 at No. 8 Zanesville, the Central Ohio League titleholder. Watt's team was 14-4 even though he returned no lettermen from last year.

Walt Harrop of No. 6 ranked Warsaw River View (17-1) was the Eastern Class AA Coach of the Year while Art Mullet of Berlin Hiland picked up the No. 1 coaching honor in Class A.

Mullet coached a 14-6 team this season after going 4-17 in 1973-74.

Plescia Wins Pentathlon At Denison U

Frank Plescia, Circleville High School senior track star, won the Central District Pentathlon meet Tuesday at Denison University.

The Pentathlon consists of five events. Plescia threw the shot 38 feet, ran the 55-yard high hurdles in 7.6 seconds, ran the 55-yard dash in 6.5 seconds, high jumped 6 feet one inch and ran the 8:00 yard run in 2:14.

Plescia accumulated 3223 points to win the event. He will now go to the state pentathlon meet Saturday at Denison University. Athletes from A, AA and AAA schools compete in the meet.

The Circleville High School track team will open its season Thursday at Denison in an indoor meet which will include Lancaster, Upper Arlington, Newark, Gahanna and other top central district teams. Circleville will be the only AA school invited to the meet.

"We're further along right now than we have ever been," according to veteran CHS coach Jim Lint. "We've got a good basis for a good track team."

Pete Rose Always Sought New Fans

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Whether it's the hallowed "Rose" garden of Riverfront Stadium or the winter leagues of Latin American countries, Pete Rose thrives on winning new fans.

Ask Domasco Blanco, a Venezuelan who watched it happen in his home country.

He was a teammate of Rose's in the early 1960s when the Cincinnati Reds sent the crewcut, wisecracking kid to winter ball in Venezuela for more seasoning.

Right away, Rose had a strike against him when the club requested he be played at second base, bumping local hero Cesar Tovar from the lineup.

"The people didn't like the idea of developing second basemen in Cincinnati by moving one of their countrymen out to the outfield," recalled Blanco, then with the San Francisco Giants organization.

Rose was oblivious to the hostility produced by the move. He was also unaware of how South American crowds display their unhappiness.

It didn't take long to find out.

In his Venezuelan debut, he made five errors.

Expecting boos and catcalls, he heard something else.

"The people were whistling and clapping," Rose recalled. "I couldn't figure out why they'd be cheering me with the day I was having."

That's when Blanco clued him in. In Latin America, like Europe, whistles and clapping signify dissatisfaction.

"I didn't know that," said Rose, a three-time National League batting champion. "I couldn't read those Spanish newspapers."

Blanco, now a broadcaster of major league games for South American stations, said it didn't take Rose long to make converts.

"I couldn't believe it. Most Americans come down and don't put out," said Blanco. "But not Rose. He was unbelievable."

On one occasion, a power failure blackened the playing field. Many of the players openly expressed a hope the lights would stay out so they could go home early.

"Everyone wanted to go, but Pete. He turned to me and said, 'I wish they'd get those lights fixed. I came here to play.'"

Another time, Rose stranded the tying run at third base with a popout. The natives stirred angrily.

"I feel as bad as you do about it," Rose apologized. "I'll make it up." He responded with five hits the next day.

"They loved him," said Blanco.

Phillies Looking Good So Far

By The Associated Press
The Philadelphia Phillies are looking twice as good as any other baseball team in spring training so far. Even when they split their team in half, they can't be beaten.

The Phillies divided into two squads Tuesday and doubled their pleasure with victories over the Pittsburgh Pirates and Chunichi Dragons.

The 7-5 victory over the Pirates and 12-1 drubbing of the Dragons gave the Phillies a perfect 6-0 record and an inside track on the Citrus League championship.

Facing Pittsburgh at Bradenton, the Phillies took advantage of Steve Blass' wildness to beat the Pirates. Blass, plagued with the same wildness that sent him to the minor leagues, walked four straight batters to open the seventh, throwing two odd pitches in the process, to give the Phillies two runs and a 5-4 lead. The Phillies then scored their winning run on a sacrifice fly off the onetime Pirate ace.

Tony Taylor, a former Phillie who is enjoying a second chance with his team, homered, scored four times and stole two bases to lead the runaway over the Japanese visitors at Clearwater.

Elsewhere, it was Los Angeles 10, Cincinnati 6; Texas 6, Baltimore 2; Chicago 12, Detroit 4; New York Yankees 4, New York Mets 0; St. Louis 3, Kansas City 2; Montreal 9, Boston 3; Minnesota 5, Houston 4 and the Tokyo Giants 1, Atlanta 0.

Johnny Miller Seeks Doral Win

MIAMI (AP) — Johnny Miller, fresh and rested after some time off, returns to tour competition this week and takes on Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino in the $150,000 Doral Open Golf Tournament.

"I always seem to play my best after taking a break," said Miller, a three-time winner and the sensation of the winter tour. "You look at my record. Except for the U.S. Open, and the times I've won two or three in a row, all of my wins have come immediately after I've had some time off. I just seem to play better. I'm more enthusiastic, after I've had a break."

Miller has had a two-week rest at his home in Napa, Calif., coming into the Thursday start of this 72-hole chase for a $30,000 first prize over the 7,065-yard, Doral Country Club course.

At one time Miller, the runaway, record-setting winner of the two Arizona tournaments that opened the tour this season, had planned to skip this event, but he decided to enter at the last minute. He's the probable favorite, but Nicklaus and Trevino are close behind.

"It always gives you a lot of confidence when you win your first tournament of the year," Trevino said after his front-running triumph last weekend in the Citrus Open at Orlando.

"I seem to be a streak player. When I get it going, I sometimes keep it going for a while. And I'm playing a golf course that I like."

Nicklaus also has a history of success in this event, winning the tour-namment in 1972. He's coming off a one-week break and will be trying to wipe out the memory of a final-round collapse that cost him the title in his last start the Jackie Gleason Classic.

Some other standouts include Sam Snead and his nephew, J.C., millionaires Tom Weiskopf and Bruce Crampton of Australia, defending champion Buddy Allin and Gleason winner Bob Murphy.

Ben Crenshaw, who broke a lengthy slump with a strong performance last week, heads a list of young turks that also includes Tom Watson, Forrest Fezler, Tom Kite and Jerry Heard.

Arnold Palmer and U.S. Open champ Hale Irwin are not competing.

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Deleterious caught Cast Phar at the eighth pole to win the $4,500 feature race at Latonia Tuesday night.

Completing the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:14 1-5, the winner returned $14.00, $6.40 and $3.40. Cast Phar paid $4.20 and $2.60 for second. The show horse was Mike's Pal, paying $2.60.

The 2-9 combination of Gay Larum and Pride of Kentucky returned $164.00 in the daily double.

A crowd of 4,288 wagered $448,984.

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 896-2462

The sympathy of the community is extended to Paul Mouser whose mother, Mrs. Edna Mouser, 72, passed away on Tuesday at her home. She also leaves a grandson, an aunt, Mrs. Ellen Cox; and several cousins. Services were held on Friday at the Schoedinger-Norris Chapel.

The Derby and Five Points Methodist Youth Fellowship is having a spaghetti supper on March 22 at the Derby United Methodist Church. Supper will be served from 6 to 8:30 p.m.

This project is to help the MYF pay for its Easter retreat. Tickets are available from any MYF member or by calling 869-2701. Anyone wishing to donate pie or cake for the supper may call the same number. All donations and contributions will be appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gillespie and son Kenneth visited friends recently in northern Ohio.

The Derby Garden Club members will meet on March 24 with devotions by Mrs. Jane Vance. The program marks the Spring Founder's Day Banquet. Wild flower slides will be shown by Freda McPherson. Carolyn Onewehr will review the book "Color for Your Garden" by Edna Haring.

Door prizes will be given. Members are reminded of a time for the trip to Bliss Woods for the wildflower tour in March. Club officers will be the hostesses for the meeting.

Business News

Harold Mundy Pontiac announced today that two mechanics have successfully completed recent written tests of their competency conducted by the Educational-Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey. As a result of this each mechanic who passed has received a certificate from the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence indicating the areas of his demonstrated competency. The successful mechanics and their areas of certification are: Jerry Giffin, engine repair, front end alignment, automatic transmission, heating and air conditioning, electrical, engine tuneups, brakes, and Scott Dresbach, engine repair, front end alignment, brakes and engine tuneups.

Fostoria Man Dies

FOSTORIA, Ohio (AP) — Stephen Myers, 30, of Fostoria died Monday after his car ran off Ohio 12 about five miles east of Fostoria and struck a tree, police said.

Police said Myers was pinned in the wreckage for about 30 minutes. He died later in a Toledo hospital.

job superintendent of Contract Management Co.; Kenneth Reid, clerk of the board; Bob Royston, of Contract Management; Dave Long, board member; and Gordon Massey, superintendent of the district.

Initial Excavation Begins On Westfall Middle School

With groundbreaking ceremonies Tuesday morning, work was officially begun on a $1,800,000 middle school for the Westfall District that will be constructed off the Williamsport-Darbyville Rd., just south of the present junior and senior high school building.

The proposed middle school will house 22 class rooms, a multi-purpose room, a media center, and offices for guidance counselors and speech and hearing therapists.

Growing pains are responsible for construction of the middle school, which will provide classroom space for 6th, 7th, and 8th grade Westfall School District students, according to superintendent Gordon Massey.

When the building is functional, it will take 7th and 8th graders from the high school and the 6th grades from the elementary schools.

At the high school, the need for split sessions will be eliminated.

And at the elementaries, more space will be provided for special classes including kindergartens.

The 47,000 square-foot structure will have a capacity for 550 students, the same as the high school. The same architects, Kellman and Foley of Columbus, designed both buildings.

One difference, however, will be the heating plant. The high school is heated with natural gas, while the proposed middle school will have electrical heat.

Original plans called for completion of the building by September, 1976.

A-C Science Fair Held

The Amanda-Clearcreek High School Science Club held their annual Science Fair recently. Elementary, junior high, and high school students displayed a total of 63 projects.

Winners in the elementary division were Hodi Henderly and Vicki Good, first; Anna Wright, second; Tim Binkley, third.

Junior high winning exhibitors were Bryan Clark, first; Penny Chase, second; Sue Noll and Linda Batas, third.

Senior high students who have earned the right to display their projects at the county science fair are Kim Folk and Terry Cluse, Brenda Doner, Rita Miller, Staryl Wharton, Delores Wood and Kathy Woodward, Larry King, Tim Drum, Rob Turner, Kevin Ludwick and Kevin Kerns, Brad Garrett.

Exhibitors selected to show their projects at the District Science Fair later this month at Dennison University are Bryan Clark, Penny Chase, Greta Shumaker, Bob Stoneman and David Bartelson, Tracy Mettler and Patty Lewis, junior high; Jodi Barnes, Kurt Smelser, Dennis Picklesimer, Marsha Drum, Don Davis and Lori Smith, Scott Weaver and Jim Bryan, senior high.

Two high school students, Jodi Barnes and Kurt Smelser, have been selected to participate in the Regional Science Fair at Otterbein College in April.

The Fairfield County Science Fair will be held in the Amanda-Clearcreek High School auditorium on March 14 at 6 p.m. The public is invited.

However, board members feel the projected date will be beaten considerably, and are hopeful that the middle school will be available sometime between the start and middle of next year's school term.

Contract Management Co. of Columbus serves the Board of Education as agents on a special fee basis. They take the place of the general contractor at a lesser fee and provide advisory and administrative services to the board of education.

The general contractor for the work is Ohio State Construction Co. of Columbus.

Owens-Illinois Annual Report Shows Good Year

TOLEDO — An improvement in the profit trend of the Glass Container Division and important progress in a number of other key growth areas are described in detail in the 1974 annual report of Owens-Illinois, Inc. Shareholders will begin receiving the report next week.

Owens-Illinois is one of the world's major manufacturers of products made from glass, paper, plastic, and metal. In addition, an important part of O-I business consists of specialized glass products, such as glass television bulbs, laboratory glassware, and glass tumblers and stemware. The corporation — the 84th largest industrial manufacturer in the United States — has more than 25,000 common shareholders. O-I has 112 plants and mills in the United States and owns or has an interest in 81 plants in 22 foreign countries.

Owens-Illinois results in 1974, which were announced last month, included sales of $2,116,436,000, an all-time high for the 16th consecutive year, and an increase of 14 per cent over the $1,856,906,000 reported for 1973.

Earnings for the year amounted to $83,472,000, an increase of 12 per cent from 1973, when earnings were $74,496,000 before an extraordinary gain. Earnings per common share totaled $5.74, a gain of 22 per cent from earnings per share of $4.70 before the extraordinary gain in the previous year.

In December, 1974, the company changed from the average cost to the last-in, first-out (LIFO) method of accounting for most domestic inventories to more realistically reflect the company's earnings by more closely matching current annual costs to current revenues. As a result, net earnings for 1974 were reduced by about $18.6 million, or $1.34 per share.

In evaluating the past year's performance, Edwin D. Dodd, president and chief executive officer, told shareholders, "We are especially pleased with the progress made in the past year, since it was achieved during a period in which all of our operations faced a number of serious challenges.

"As we enter 1975," Dodd said, "we are aware that Owens-Illinois, contrasted to many companies, is a large, strong business coming off an all-time record year."

Dodd noted, however, that the American tradition of maintaining a rising standard of living will continue only if U.S. industry is able to increase its profitability, "which as a per cent of sales and investment has been declining for a sustained period and is inadequate to finance the development necessary to meet the demands of our society.

"Inadequate profit margins have forced corporations into substantial borrowing to make necessary capital investments. Although corporations reinvested over half their earnings to meet operating and capital needs, corporate debt still grew from $454 billion in 1965 to more than $1 trillion last year. This is more than double the United States' debt.

"Inflation has eroded the value of the dollar by 40 per cent since 1965," Dodd said. "As a consequence, allowances for depreciation of industrial facilities, based on original cost, are inadequate.

"Without an adequate return on investment for industry, there will be fewer jobs, a slowdown in productivity gains, lower investment in new equipment and factories, and a decline in our standard of living," he said.

Food Stamps Are A Big Help!

As food prices rise, more people become eligible for food stamps. You may be included.

- Eligibility depends on how much of your income is available to buy food. You do not have to be unemployed or on welfare to take advantage of food stamps.
- You can increase your food buying power 25 to 50% by using food stamps. The amount you pay for food stamps depends on your income.
- You have a right to food stamps, just like Social Security or unemployment compensation. Food stamps are provided by Congress and the U.S. Department of Agriculture so that every citizen will get enough food for proper health and nutrition.
- For full and complete information, contact your local food stamp certification or welfare office.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Wait for cues before launching any new project. If not on guard, you could get into difficult situations or needless complications.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Dogged persistence will be day's need; also, the fortitude not to break your stride hesitantly when obstacles, new problems appear. Use that bright mind of yours!

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Mercury, in excellent position, puts your native ingenuity and perceptiveness at a peak. A time in which to spread your wings a bit—if time and obligations permit.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Your ability to weather "stormy" periods will be of great help now. You may run into some opposition, some unexpected situations, but eventual returns will be worth fighting for.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Curb a tendency toward lethargy since your stellar influences promise fine achievement if you're "on the ball." The Leoite is rarely lax, but such inclinations prevail now.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Stress your foresightedness in order to prevent witless errors. Don't leap at ideas or suggestions made by those who could mislead through a pleasing manner.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Patience and a sense of humor needed now. Do not let minor annoyances get the better of you or you may blow them out of proportion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Fine influences should help you put this day "over the top." Polish up a dormant talent for unique, unexpected use.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Uncertainty could offset your best efforts, so be decisive. Marshal all your talents, will power and know-how with a view toward taking brisk steps forward.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't slacken your efforts because others are in a frivolous mood. Consider your own interests—especially now when influences stimulate new ideas for improving your status.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Fine stellar aspects encourage your creative interests. Also favored: romance, family concerns and cultural activities.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): You may encounter some opposition, but it need not deter your better efforts. Handle it diplomatically—and go on to bigger and better achievement.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely intelligent individual, a quick thinker and an idealist, with a flair for the unusual. You have a vivid imagination, a strong will and an outstanding sense of justice. You are one of the world's true humanitarians, and a life of service is almost sure to be in the cards for you. You are creative, too, and could especially succeed in literature, music, painting or interior decoration. Business is not really for forte but if it appeals to you, you COULD make a success of real estate.

LOOSEY GOOSEY — New Orleans Jazz coach Bill Van Breda Kolff laughs during a practice session. His team has adopted a "loosey goosey" attitude about their dismal record.

Fewer Visited Carlsbad Caverns

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — Visits to the famous Carlsbad Caverns National Park dropped in 1974.

Supt. Don Dayton says 671,721 persons visited the park last year compared with 840,000 in 1973.

Dayton said only during December was there an increase of visitors over any 1973 month.

Views On Television
NEW YORK (AP) — The issue of live TV and radio broadcasts of House and Senate floor debates is knocking about in Congress again, after an initial Senate proposal died in the last days of the 93rd Congress. On this go-around, Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, and Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., each have introduced resolutions their offices say would: —Provide a closed-circuit test of broadcasting floor debate for a period of up to six months, the coverage piped to certain members of the House and Senate. —Allow commercial and public broadcasters, after approved by both houses, to plug into the circuit after the test period, and air live or taped broadcast of the proceedings. Brooks and Metcalf are the chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Joint Committee on Congressional Operations, which last October recommended that live broadcast coverage of the Congress' floor proceedings be allowed on a one-year trial basis this year. The proposal was given impetus by the nationally-televized Senate Watergate hearings in 1973 and the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment hearings last year. But the House hasn't allowed live broadcasts of its regular floor sessions since 1947, when it permitted TV coverage for the opening session of the 80th Congress. The Senate relented only last December, and then only for the swearing-in of Vice-President Nelson A. Rockefeller. Although the joint committee report recommends that the Congress consider "inviting" the Public Broadcasting Service to submit proposals for operating the congressional TV system, committee officials say the Metcalf-Brooks resolutions don't urge such an invitation. The measures instead leave operation of the system, as well as coverage ground rules, to be decided by the House and Senate organizations concerned with the matter, the officials say. In the Senate's case, the decision-maker would be the Rules Committee. On the House side, it would be the newly-formed House Commission on information and facilities. A daguerreotype, an early kind of photograph, used a sheet of copper instead of glass or film and it was coated with a special mixture of chemicals. The inventor was a Frenchman, Louis Daguerre.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Wait for cues before launching any new project. If not on guard, you could get into difficult situations or needless complications.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Dogged persistence will be day's need; also, the fortitude not to break your stride hesitantly when obstacles, new problems appear. Use that bright mind of yours!

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Mercury, in excellent position, puts your native ingenuity and perceptiveness at a peak. A time in which to spread your wings a bit—if time and obligations permit.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Your ability to weather "stormy" periods will be of great help now. You may run into some opposition, some unexpected situations, but eventual returns will be worth fighting for.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Curb a tendency toward lethargy since your stellar influences promise fine achievement if you're "on the ball." The Leoite is rarely lax, but such inclinations prevail now.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Stress your foresightedness in order to prevent witless errors. Don't leap at ideas or suggestions made by those who could mislead through a pleasing manner.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Patience and a sense of humor needed now. Do not let minor annoyances get the better of you or you may blow them out of proportion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Fine influences should help you put this day "over the top." Polish up a dormant talent for unique, unexpected use.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Uncertainty could offset your best efforts, so be decisive. Marshal all your talents, will power and know-how with a view toward taking brisk steps forward.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't slacken your efforts because others are in a frivolous mood. Consider your own interests—especially now when influences stimulate new ideas for improving your status.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Fine stellar aspects encourage your creative interests. Also favored: romance, family concerns and cultural activities.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): You may encounter some opposition, but it need not deter your better efforts. Handle it diplomatically—and go on to bigger and better achievement.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely intelligent individual, a quick thinker and an idealist, with a flair for the unusual. You have a vivid imagination, a strong will and an outstanding sense of justice. You are one of the world's true humanitarians, and a life of service is almost sure to be in the cards for you. You are creative, too, and could especially succeed in literature, music, painting or interior decoration. Business is not really for forte but if it appeals to you, you COULD make a success of real estate. Birthdate of: Joseph Priestley, Eng. chemist, philosopher; Jack Lait, editor, short-story writer, playwright.

LOOSEY GOOSEY — New Orleans Jazz coach Bill Van Breda Kolff laughs during a practice session. His team has adopted a "loosey goosey" attitude about their dismal record.

Fewer Visited Carlsbad Caverns

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — Visits to the famous Carlsbad Caverns National Park dropped in 1974.

Supt. Don Dayton says 671,721 persons visited the park last year compared with 840,000 in 1973.

Dayton said only during December was there an increase of visitors over any 1973 month.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — The issue of live TV and radio broadcasts of House and Senate floor debates is knocking about in Congress again, after an initial Senate proposal died in the last days of the 93rd Congress.

On this go-around, Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, and Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., each have introduced resolutions their offices say would:

—Provide a closed-circuit test of broadcasting floor debate for a period of up to six months, the coverage piped to certain members of the House and Senate.

—Allow commercial and public broadcasters, after approved by both houses, to plug into the circuit after the test period, and air live or taped broadcast of the proceedings.

Brooks and Metcalf are the chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Joint Committee on Congressional Operations, which last October recommended that live broadcast coverage of the Congress' floor proceedings be allowed on a one-year trial basis this year.

The proposal was given impetus by the nationally-televised Senate Watergate hearings in 1973 and the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment hearings last year.

But the House hasn't allowed live broadcasts of its regular floor sessions since 1947, when it permitted TV coverage for the opening session of the 80th Congress. The Senate relented only last December, and then only for the swearing-in of Vice-President Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Although the joint committee report recommends that the Congress consider "inviting" the Public Broadcasting Service to submit proposals for operating the congressional TV system, committee officials say the Metcalf-Brooks resolutions don't urge such an invitation.

The measures instead leave operation of the system, as well as coverage ground rules, to be decided by the House and Senate organizations concerned with the matter, the officials say.

In the Senate's case, the decision-maker would be the Rules Committee. On the House side, it would be the newly-formed House Commission on information and facilities.

A daguerreotype, an early kind of photograph, used a sheet of copper instead of glass or film and it was coated with a special mixture of chemicals. The inventor was a Frenchman, Louis Daguerre.

Pickaway County Speech, Hearing Clinic In 9th Year Of Operation

The Pickaway County Speech and Hearing Clinic is open on Saturdays from 9 a.m. - 1 p.m., four eight-week sessions per year. The Clinic is located at the Mound Street Elementary School. Children and adults with speech, language and/or hearing disorders receive therapy on an individual basis from advanced students enrolled in the Speech and Hearing Science Program at The Ohio State University.

Many of the children are enrolled in the Paired-Stimuli Parent Program for articulation disorders. In this program, which was originally designed for the Pickaway County Speech and Hearing Clinic by Cheri Resler, supervisor of the clinic, parents are taught to administer specific steps of the program at home on a daily basis. Thus, each child may receive as many as three 10-minute individual therapy sessions per day from his parent as well as a 30-minute session on Saturday from a speech pathologist. Parents are also trained to record and chart all of the child's responses. The child's progress charts are reviewed by the speech pathologist and the parent together during the Saturday sessions.

TRAINING SESSION—Jennifer Hall has a pile of tokens indicating correct responses given by her during a session at the speech and hearing clinic at E. Mound St. Her pathologists are Cheri Resler and Danny McClowry.

Throughout the program, children are given tokens for correct responses. When a child earns 50 tokens, he may redeem them for a small prize. The prizes, which are provided by the Pickaway County Easter Seal Society, are arranged in five graduated levels so that if the child earns as many as 250 tokens during a thirty minute session, he would be allowed to select a top prize.

The token system is also used in the home program. The parents and child decide together on an appropriate goal, such as going on a picnic, staying up later, getting a special treat at the store, having a friend over and so forth. An arbitrary number of tokens is established for the goal and then the child is given the opportunity to earn the tokens during his therapy sessions.

The use of parents in our treatment program has increased the learning acquisition rate greatly. Both parents and children seem to enjoy the home sessions and the program makes it possible to complete treatment for many more children each year.

The clinic has been in operation for nine years. Monies to support the clinic are provided by the Ohio Department of Health, Pickaway County, The Sertoma and LaSertoma Clubs and the local Easter Seal Society.

During the past nine years, approximately 1,000 evaluations have been made and 700 have received therapy. Referrals for children and adults needing therapy are made by teachers, doctors, ministers, nurses and parents. Anyone interested in making referrals may contact Mrs. Paul Schein, clinic coordinator, at 986-5909. Mrs. Montford Kirkwood is responsible for the secretarial services at the clinic. Five speech pathologists offer seven individual therapy sessions each Saturday morning. The supervisor and assistant supervisor, doctoral students, at The Ohio State University, are available for the initial diagnostic evaluations and to assist in treatment programming.

Conference Attended By DECA Chapter

The Ohio DECA State Leadership Conference was held March 7 and 8 at the Sheraton Motor Inn in downtown Columbus. The Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational Center DECA Chapter was represented at the conference by six members. Those attending under the supervision of Distributive Education Coordinator Gary Frey were: Judy Wood, Zane Trace High School; Dewayne Tanner, Zane Trace High School; Karen Bell, Chillicothe High School; Brenda Hougland, Chillicothe High School; Jeff Hartman, Adena High School; Karen Stewart, Circleville High School.

The students competed in various contests related to the fields of marketing and distribution, such as business vocabulary, math of distribution, radio advertising, job interview, investments, etc.

At the State Leadership Conference students meet and compete against students from all parts of the state. Contest winners are eligible to attend the DECA National Career Development Conference.

The National Career Development Conference will be held this year in May in Hollywood, Fla.

On the final night of the conference an awards banquet was held and the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational Center DECA Chapter received an honorable mention award as one of the six finalists in the Rookie Chapter of the Year contest.

In this contest all of the chapter's activities for the year had to be recorded and put into a notebook that was then judged, according to established guidelines, against notebooks submitted by other first year chapters.

Rotary Picks Students For 29th WAI

Earl W. Palm, president of the Circleville Rotary Club, has announced the selection of seniors Ben McDaniel, Circleville; Deborah Wiseman, Logan Elm; Cindy Beattie, Teays Valley; and Rosena Stevens, Westfall to attend the 29 Annual World Affairs Institute in Cincinnati, April 4 and 5.

One thousand selected students from Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, and West Virginia will participate in the two-day meeting, as guests of their local Rotary Clubs. The topic for the 1975 Institute is: "This Era Of Interdependence — Three Case Histories Of How It Is Changing Our Lives".

Ranking authorities from various countries will speak, take part in discussions, and engage in informal question periods with the students. The Institute provides a unique opportunity for outstanding students to understand a transforming factor in today's world, and the vital policy questions consequently facing our nation.

Participants and their adult leaders, in addition to a comprehensive program of vital information about an important area of international concern, will be afforded an opportunity to tour educational and cultural institutions in Cincinnati. The social highlight of the meeting will be a dance in the Hall of Mirrors of the Netherland Hilton Hotel.

The World Affairs Institute is organized and sponsored by the Rotary Club of Cincinnati, Cincinnati Council of World Affairs, with the cooperation of Avco Broadcasting Corporation.

Walton Spangler is chairman of youth affairs for the Circleville Rotary Club. Walt and his wife Annabelle will chaperone the local students to the World Affairs Institute.

WISE WAYS TO BE A BETTER SHOPPER!

A copy of all 100 Wise Ways to shop is available to you free! Please write Mr. Templeton, Box 13125, Whitehall, Ohio 43213. Listed below are just a few:

- 1 Slab bacon costs less than sliced bacon.
- 2 Liver costs less than most meats, has no waste and is rich in iron.
- 3 Beef liver is less expensive than calves liver.
- 4 Turbot, (a mild, white fish), is usually a good buy. It is low in calories and there is no waste.
- 5 Ready-to-eat meats usually cost more than meats that require home preparation.
- 6 Buy whole grain enriched products.
- 7 Study bread labels before you buy. Choose bread for weight and food value, not by the size of the loaf.
- 8 Cornbread mix is much more economical (even counting the eggs and milk you add) than making it from scratch.
- 9 Buy in "peak of season." Strawberries are usually less expensive in June than in October.
- 10 Small oranges are usually juicier and less expensive.

the boss' promise

"We're working to save you money."

I'm as concerned about food prices as you are. These suggestions for extending your food dollar have been prepared in an effort to help you shop more wisely. Following these hints can help make the most of your food expenditure both nutritionally and economically. Review the suggestions and begin practicing the ways that best suit your needs. WISE WAYS TO BE A BETTER SHOPPER!

A copy of all 100 Wise Ways to shop is available to you free! Please write Mr. Templeton, Box 13125, Whitehall, Ohio 43213. Listed below are just a few:

- 1 Slab bacon costs less than sliced bacon.
- 2 Liver costs less than most meats, has no waste and is rich in iron.
- 3 Beef liver is less expensive than calves liver.
- 4 Turbot, (a mild, white fish), is usually a good buy. It is low in calories and there is no waste.
- 5 Ready-to-eat meats usually cost more than meats that require home preparation.
- 6 Buy whole grain enriched products.
- 7 Study bread labels before you buy. Choose bread for weight and food value, not by the size of the loaf.
- 8 Cornbread mix is much more economical (even counting the eggs and milk you add) than making it from scratch.
- 9 Buy in "peak of season." Strawberries are usually less expensive in June than in October.
- 10 Small oranges are usually juicier and less expensive.
